HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—An excursion to a supposedly haunted house Sunday night ended in the shotgun slaying of a University of Cincinnati freshman.

Capt. Jess Dennis of the sheriff's office said Harry Demoret, 82, who lived alone in the 150-year-old house, admitted firing the two shotgun charges that killed Jack W. Langhorst, 18, of Cincinnati.

Dennis said Demoret told them he opened fire when the youth "battered through the door" and entered the house.

Butler county officials did not file charges against Demoret because, they said, evidence indicated young Langhorst forced his way into Demoret's home.

Langhorst was in a party of 10 youths who went to the house. Langhorst's friends told deputies they met some girls at a drive-in who told them about "haunted houses" in the vicinity. They decided to visit one.

INVASION SPEARHEAD?

Dutch Repel Indonesian Landing Craft

HOLLANDIA (AP)—An Indonesian torpedo boat was sunk today by Dutch patrol ships inside West New Guinea's territorial waters on the south coast, the Dutch Navy said today.

At least three Indonesian motor torpedo boats were intercepted and a second may have been sunk, the navy said. The other intruder fled.

The Dutch news agency quoted the Navy commander in Hollandia as saying it was thought the Indonesian warcraft might have been the vanguard for an invasion. A Dutch defence ministry spokesman at The Hague refused to comment when asked whether the clash meant an actual state of war between The Netherlands and Indonesia.

The navy spokesman said the Indonesian torpedo boats were intercepted near Etna Bay. This is a region within easy range of some of the eastern Indonesian islands believed used as a base for the infiltrators.

The agency quoted navy Capt. R. M. Elberts, chief of staff of The Netherlands navy in the territory as saying the Indonesian motor boats were "presumably of Russian or East German make."

Patrols Skirmish With Bands

BLAK (AP)—An official in this Dutch New Guinea centre said today small bands of Indonesians have attempted to infiltrate West New Guinea and that some had been killed in skirmishes with Dutch patrols.

Hendrik Assink, district officer of Blak, estimated the total number of invaders at "perhaps a couple of hundred." Their purpose, he said, is to stir up unrest among the Papuan population.

The Indonesian bands "have been a total loss as they have not been supported with supplies," he added. "They cannot live in the jungle so they come to villages and the people tell us right away."

Craft Tracked Down With Radar

The agency correspondent in a message telephoned directly to The Hague said the Dutch warships and aircraft tracked down the Indonesian craft with radar.

The encounter was the first recorded outbreak of fighting between the Dutch and Indonesian armed forces since Indonesia started threatening to "liberate" the territory.

A defence ministry spokesman said details of the incident were lacking, including the strength of the Indonesian vessels.

In Jakarta, Indonesia, earlier today newspapers reported that five divisions of volunteers were assembled in the South Celebes—President Sukarno's "jumping-off spot" for his pledged attempt to grab West New Guinea from Dutch control.

Exports to Canada Boosted by Britain

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Express says Britain's exports to Canada are hitting record levels.

The right-wing newspaper,

which has been fighting British moves to join the European Common Market, says figures due later this month "may show they were worth more than £220,000,000 ($46,800,000) last year."

The Express adds that British figures for the first 11 months indicate Canada spent £207,000,000 ($608,580,000) in the British market—up three per cent from the corresponding figure of £198,000,000 ($582,120,000).

"The long-term possibilities in the Canadian market are almost limitless, and present a tremendous contrast with opportunities in the Common Market countries," the newspaper says.

NEEDS MONEY TO START BUSINESS

Hero's Widow Wants to Sell VC

BIRSTALL, England (UPI)—A nation-wide controversy flared today over a widow's determination to sell her war hero husband's Victoria Cross to raise badly-needed cash. The bronze medal was won by her husband as an 18-year-old member of the Royal Air Force in 1940.

Mrs. Janet Hannah, 40, whose husband died in 1947 of tuberculosis, said she needed the money to start a hairdressing business and to bring more security to her family.

She said she has received one offer of 1,000 pounds ($2,800).

Officials of the RAF Association said they would try to talk her out of selling the medal. They hoped to come up with an offer of financial aid that would make selling it unnecessary.

But Sunday night Mrs. Hannah stood firm. Her 19-year-old married daughter, Mrs. Josephine Burditt said: "She's had a tremendously hard fight bringing us up

Now all she wants is security. She wants to make her own way now."

Mrs. Hannah who said she had the assent of her three daughters, declared: "Nothing has caused us more pain than the prospect of parting with his VC. But after 15 years of struggling to make ends meet, selling the medal is my only hope of raising money."

The dead husband's parents came out against the sale and so did the Leicestershire branch of the RAF Association. Hannah won the bravery medal when he put out a blaze with his bare hands in a bomber over Holland.

CLEANED OUT

Surveying the safe from which thieves took some $12,000 early today is Lee Gan, co-owner of the Don Mee Co., 538 Fisgard. A heavy hammer was used to split the safe door open. Safe contained cash and cheques belonging to a number of persons and concerns in Chinatown.

'AMERICA'S NEW SUPERMARKET'

LONDON (Reuters)—The Sunday Express says President Kennedy is taking steps which might turn the European Common Market into "America's new supermarket."

The Express says in an editorial: "Watch the brilliant dexterity of President Kennedy's performance over the Common Market. Watch—and wonder."

"In Ottawa his officials are telling Canadians: Beware the Common Market. If Britain becomes a member, you must protect yourselves by coming into customs union with the U.S.A. And in Brussels? Ah, that is a different story. No warnings there."

"The president's officials have arranged for a huge slashing of tariffs on American goods coming into Europe. The effect could be to turn the Common Market into America's new supermarket."

(Times News Service)

BRUSSELS — The booming European Common Market hurdled a big obstacle during the weekend and moved into the second stage of its three-step program for eliminating trade barriers among its members.

Hard on the heels of the joint agricultural agreement reached by the market members came a report that a sweeping tariff-cutting program has been agreed on by the six-nation market and the United States and will be signed Tuesday in Brussels.

However, one spokesman at the U.S. mission to the Common Market, while confirming that the meeting was scheduled for Tuesday, said "as far as we know, the meeting is not for the formal signature of any agreement."

He said he doubted a formal agreement could be signed because "this has to go back to GATT"—the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade organization in Geneva under whose auspices negotiations started.

Settlement of the market members' wrangle over agriculture policy opened the way for Britain's bid for membership in the group.

Reports on the market-U.S. agreement said the pact involved reductions of up to 20 per cent on many industrial products. Exactly which products would be covered was not known.

'Will Hurt Canada'

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian government officials took a gloomy view today of the European Common Market's adoption of a common agricultural policy.

"It's undoubtedly going to be more restrictive" for Canadian agricultural exports, a senior official commented.

The Common Market's big step, taken on the weekend after days of hard bargaining at Brussels, would affect exports of Canadian agricultural products to the six countries of the Common Market and also farm exports to Britain if Britain finally enters the big trading bloc.

DE GAULLE SUPPORTER MURDERED

ALGIERS (Reuters)—Two Europeans, including a top municipal official, were slain today in the western city of Oran as a wave of violence continued unabated in Algeria. (See story page 9.)

Victor Demare, Oran's mail and telecommunications director, was cut down by gunfire soon after military officials in Algiers said the first two weeks of 1962 were the bloodiest since the nationalist insurrection began more than seven years ago.

Demare, known as a supporter of President de Gaulle, recently received threatening letters from the European extremist Secret Army Organization, police said.

SATURNA SLAYING

Widow In Mental Hospital

Mrs. Marian Money, widow of a Saturna Island man who was shot and killed Friday night in his home, was admitted to the provincial mental hospital at Essondale Sunday.

The frail and pretty 21-year-old mother was committed on a warrant sworn out by two doctors and a stipendiary magistrate.

Victim of the shooting, William Money, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Money of Saturna, was found by friends late Friday night when they called to take him to work at a building material plant on the island.

TWO WOUNDS

They found the body on his bed with two bullet wounds in the chest. There were two 38 calibre bullets on the floor, and a 38 calibre pistol belonging to the victim was found in a dresser drawer. It was sent to the RCMP laboratory in Regina for examination.

The young widow, whose health has been poor since the loss of the couple's first child 18 months ago, was in the same bed in a dazed and incoherent condition. Their five-month-old son Gordon was safe in his crib in the same room.

Friends called the victim's father, island constable and justice of the peace, and notified RCMP at Ganges, on Salt Spring Island.

INQUEST ADJOURNED

An inquest opened Saturday morning under direction of Coroner Miles Acheson of Ganges, then was adjourned to Jan. 27.

The five-room bungalow in which the shooting took place is at Lyall Harbor.

Body of Mr. Money was brought to Victoria for an autopsy, and Mrs. Money was taken to Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital at Ganges.

Anglican funeral service will be held Tuesday at Saturna Island Community Hall with Rt. Rev. Michael E. Coleman of North Pender Island officiating, and interment will be in Saturna Island cemetery.

ANTOINE GIZENGA

Gizenga Virtual Prisoner

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Antoine Gizenga was a virtual prisoner of United Nations and Congolese forces encircling his residence in Stanleyville today.

The government announced the pro-Communist deputy premier had agreed to end his self-imposed exile and return to Leopoldville after his personal bodyguard surrendered Sunday to Congolese troops.

Nearly 300 of Gizenga's gendarmes—his military army in Stanleyville—have been disarmed and taken prisoner by central government troops under Gen. Victor Lundula, the UN reported.

A tight cordon of UN Ethiopian soldiers and Lundula's men surrounded Gizenga's mansion, keeping him isolated until a decision is reached on what to do with him.

Gizenga's fate seemed to rest with parliament and the cabinet of Premier Cyrille Adoula, both hostile to the one-time Patrice Lumumba's political heir and impatient at his continued defiance of the central government.

The UN announced meanwhile that 21 UN Nigerian soldiers were surprised, and captured in Luluabourg by the small remaining forces of South Kasai province's Albert Kalonji, separatist leader now under arrest by the central government.

The Nigerian brigade major promptly flew to the South Kasai capital of Bakwanga to obtain the release of his men. The UN said the local authorities handed back the troops and apologized for the incident.

Action Hinted On Columbia

OTTAWA (UPI)—Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton indicated today that Canada and the United States may soon take joint action to clear up the Columbia River controversy.

Fulton told newsmen he had "pleasant and profitable" talks on the Columbia over the weekend with U.S. Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall.

"The nature of those discussions will become evident in the reasonably near future," he added.

Townpeople Flee Australia Bush Fire

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Two small Australian towns near here were evacuated today as a windswept bush-fire raged out of control in mountains north and east of Melbourne.

Women and children were evacuated from Olinda, with about 1,400 residents. Flames covered three quarters of Mount Dandenong, east of here, and residents of the nearby town of Kalorama, with 400 population, were being led to safety.

The body of a man was found meantime by firefighters. It was the first death attributed to the blaze.

Centennial Flashback...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

JANUARY 15

W. M. Seabury, the well-known importing druggist of Government Street, put on display an impressive collection of silver-mounted smelling bottles, imported from London.

The Royal Hotel, Wharf Street threw open the doors to its brand new restaurant, and thus was able to offer board as well as lodging. Rates per week; board only, $6; board and lodging, $8.

Word leaked from the tightlipped Royal Navy that about 60 pounds worth of liquor had disappeared from the wardroom of HMS Topaze. The wardroom steward was rumored to be the guilty party, but the navy took care of punishment with no undue publicity.

Sailing of the steamer Otter for the Fraser was delayed due to freezing conditions at the river mouth.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Victoria's teen-aged girls may be reviving the fine old pastime of strolling.

More and more of them can be seen any day after school and in the evenings, alone and in pairs, walking through beach and residential districts with dogs on leash.

Size and breeding of the dogs apparently are no object. It seems to be the current vogue simply to take a dog for the air. And some of the dogs act as if they had never been leashed — the kind of great, bounding mongrel more at home knocking lids off garbage cans.

Maybe this is an overt rebellion against the almost mechanized teen-aged boy. But not likely. There's probably some deeper, strictly teen-aged subtlety to it.

Heading for Seattle, Feb. 9 for a taping of a show will be Victorian Jerry Gosley and his "Smiles" cast.

The troupe will perform in Seattle Feb. 10, and an hour of the show may be viewed later on Channel 11, if union arrangements can be worked out.

There is also a chance that parts of the performance will be seen, via tape, on the Ed Sullivan show later in the year.

Silliest thing I've heard for a long time: New fares for the Gabriola Island ferry are 60 cents for cars under nine feet.

There are some midgets, but even the Mini-Minor, Britain's smallest, is 10 feet. All it means is that everything but three-wheelers has to pay $1.20, about double the previous private enterprise rate.

Opposition Leader Bob Strachan is in shape for the legislature session which starts Jan. 25; after a month of half-hour-a-day exercises he's just bustin' to go.

That other athletic M.L.A., Labor Minister Les Peterson (he's a volley ball man), won't admit there'll be no new labor laws introduced, but he gives this answer: "We don't want any more of those all-night sittings, do we?"

Cpl. C. D. Wilson, a Victorian who now manages the RCAF Centralia hobby shop, has been awarded a Golden Hammer award — one of the top honors in hobby craft — from the U.S. magazine, Mechanix Illustrated.

Mr. Wilson won the award for an original coffee table design which took the form of a miniature grand piano with a keyboard of 30 keys, faced with a mirror to give the illusion of greater depth.

The craftsman attended Victoria College, as well as logging six years in technical school.

The circulation manager of Le Droit, the French language daily in Ottawa, recently received this letter from a subscriber in Massey, Ontario:

Dear Sir: My newspaper the 'Droit' is coming in French. No one can read it. Will you please send the newspaper in English instead. Thank you. Sincerely, Sam Paquette.

George Powell, president of the Canadian Tourist Association, flew into town late Sunday afternoon with executive assistant Larry Eerooyd for a look at Victoria and chat with publicity commissioner Bill Hawkins. Powell, who owns a piece of the Chantecleer skiing lodge in Quebec's Laurentians, is planning a winter holiday himself, in March. And where will he spend it? In Switzerland, that's where!

Max Bell was in Victoria for a few hours today en route home from California, where his horse, Four-and-Twenty, won $110,000 in two Saturdays of racing. "A pretty good horse," says Mr. Bell, in one of the sports understatements of the year.

Some lucky Victorians got a taste of the South Pacific over the weekend which they will not forget for a long time.

On Saturday afternoon the crew of the Suva fielded a rugby team against the Oak Bay Wanderers, and completely demolished the local team by playing in bare feet.

In the evening Dick Hales and his fellow Wanderers threw an impromptu party for the Fiji Islanders. The guests of honor brought their ukuleles, guitars, and a "gut bucket" bass to keep everyone twisting, weaving and singing until the wee hours.

There is a move afoot to have these boys entertain a larger section of Victoria next time the Suva docks here.

At Sunday's finals of the Pacific Coast Squash Racquets Championship held in the courts at the Sussex Hotel, many addicts jammed together in the narrow spectator-area to watch the matches. About 60 in a place designed for 15.

Mary Foster, wife of one of the Vancouver entrants, took a look at the crowd and said: "Now I know why they call this game squash."

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS OFFER

Plaque to Honor Nuns' Arrival

Victoria Council of the Knights of Columbus have offered to install a plaque at the Causeway commemorating arrival of the ship that brought the first nuns to British Columbia.

It was the second such offer centennial pioneers' sub-committee chairman James K. Nesbitt said over the weekend. He originated the idea of installing the plaques to mark Victoria's history as a seaport.

'MAJOR COMMERCIAL ASSET'

Rival Papers Criticize Tony's Job With Thomson

LONDON (CP) — Criticism was expressed Sunday on the decision whereby the Earl of Snowdon will work for The Sunday Times.

"We believe he has chosen the wrong kind of job," says The Observer, main rival of The Sunday Times, in what are known as Britain's "posh" weekly newspapers.

Early in February, The Sunday Times introduces a color supplement styled on North American lines. Fleet Street experts are asking whether other publications have the financial resources to follow suit.

The Observer says it will inevitably seem unfair that Princess Margaret's husband should be used for the "enlargement and enrichment" of the newspaper empire controlled by Canadian publisher Roy Thomson.

"The Queen's brother-in-law has already proved to be a major commercial asset to Roy Thomson in announcing his coming magazine."

STATE VALUE

"His special value will not be as a photographer and layout man. It will be as an attraction to potential advertisers in the vastly expensive new color-printed supplement which Mr. Thomson plans to finance by advertisements alone."

The Observer says it is "quite possible" that the Queen's advisers did not fully realize the commercial implications of Lord Snowdon's job.

On a separate comment, The Observer's columnist Penderennis says the Thomson management is believed to consider that Snowdon's appointment will help add 200,000 readers, "worth several hundred thousand pounds."

Penderennis says it now seems that Princess Margaret's husband is being paid "a good deal less" than the £10,000 a year foreshadowed in press reports. "But if all goes off as Thomson hopes, Snowdon ought to have made him the richer by a very large sum indeed."

Meanwhile, a visit by Prime Minister Macmillan today to Queen Elizabeth at Sandringham was linked to the controversy.

Government officials said the meeting was a routine in which Macmillan would report on his recent talks with President Kennedy and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

However, the Evening Standard hinted broadly today that Macmillan's trip could give him an opportunity to mention the Armstrong-Jones controversy. Both Macmillan and the Queen are following public reaction closely, the reports said.

CHINA DEFENCE MINISTER OUSTED

Did K Back Plot on Mao?

HONG KONG (AP) — The independent New Life Evening Post said today Red China's former defence minister Peng Teh-huai tried to overthrow Chinese Communist Party boss Mao Tse-tung in 1959.

It said the attempt had Soviet Premier Khrushchev's full support.

The paper gave Communist sources in Eastern Europe as its source of information. There was no way to corroborate the report here, but experts on communism here said the report could well be true.

Peng, a Korean war hero and Red China's No. 2 marshal, was ousted as defence minister without explanation in 1959. He appeared in public only once after that, at a friend's funeral last year.

The New Life Evening Post said Peng's attempt to overthrow Mao came in the form of a memorandum and resolution.

Diplomat Stabbed

ADEN (Reuters) — A British diplomat in Yemen was stabbed during the weekend by an unknown assailant and is in serious "but not hopeless" condition in a hospital here, a British spokesman said today.

Union Fund Doubles

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union Saturday reported total resources of more than $37,000,000, or more than double the figure of two years ago. The UAW said because of this there would be no increase in dues for its membership this year.

denouncing Red China's leaders, its political and economic policies and its people's communes and "big leap forward" programs at a Chinese Communist Party central committee meeting at Lushan in August, 1959.

It said Khrushchev was informed of the action in advance by Peng and gave it his full support. It also said the Kremlin promised to send troops to China "if necessary."

This last claim was taken with some skepticism.

'SHOOK ME LIKE DOG WITH BONE'

Shark Mauls Skindiver, Beaten Off With Spear

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A brawny, six-foot skindiver told his wife "I probably won't be back... I figure a shark will get me."

Floyd Pair Jr., 29, of Sacramento, Calif., said it was a joke. Before Sunday was over he almost had foretold his fate.

Pair came to San Francisco for a day's diving near the Farallon Islands, 25 miles west of the Golden Gate. He was one of a party of some 100 divers who chartered four boats for the purpose.

At about 11 a.m. Pair went over the side of the boat. "I went down to about 40 feet," Pair recounted, "I chased a fish, lost him... decided to surface."

"Then it hit me, just as I surfaced... at first I thought it was a seal... but a seal doesn't have a mouth that big. It was brown, and every inch of 14 feet long. It hit me from the right side and started shaking me like a dog plays with a bone."

"I saw that it was a shark. I remember thinking first that it didn't hurt. Then I half remembered something I had read by a German deep-sea expert, Hans Hass."

"Hass said to make a lot of noise and hit an attacking shark in the face."

"I spit out my breathing mouthpiece, began yelling 'Shark! Shark!' and at the same time I began jabbing at the shark's snout with my spear."

"He let loose of me and took off."

Two other divers helped Pair back to the boat. A helicopter was called and took Pair to hospital.

"On the boat they wanted to cut off my suit and look at the wounds," Pair said. "But I felt I needed that tight suit to keep whatever blood I still had in me."

Doctors described Pair's wounds as serious but not crippling. He suffered gaping leg wounds and a deep bite into his buttock.

Husband Had Right To Stole

SASKATOON (CP)—A jury of 11 men and one woman has acquitted Gerald Gannon of Calgary of theft of his wife's mink stole, mouton jacket and overnight bag.

The 36-year-old Calgary oilman was charged April 4, 1960, following a complaint by his wife, Mrs. Barbara Gannon of Penitence, B.C., formerly of Saskatoon.

A court of Queen's Bench jury deliberated 65 minutes Friday night before returning the verdict of not guilty.

The jury found that although the couple had separated, Gannon had "right" to the mink stole because it was his gift to her while they lived as man and wife.

Admitting he entered the house April 4, 1960, through the unlocked front door, Gannon added he was looking for his wife. He then took the stole, saw the barbiturates in the bag and took them so she wouldn't use them, he said.

DOUGLAS WOULD COPY SASK.

New Tax for Health Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, says he envisages a national health scheme financed by a new tax and patterned after the plan he introduced in Saskatchewan.

He spoke of the plan first in London, Ont., Friday night, when he told a medical society meeting that a comprehensive national health scheme should be introduced and financed by a new tax.

Mr. Douglas, attending a luncheon in Ottawa in honor of former CCF leader M. J.

Coldwell, said in an interview Saturday that because of the division of constitutional jurisdiction between federal and provincial governments, the federal government could only encourage the provinces to go directly into the field of health insurance.

But he said he would like to have Saskatchewan's health plan adopted by all provinces. A federal government under the New Democratic Party would encourage the provinces to move in that direction by financial assistance.

The financial aid, he added, would be similar to the contributions the federal government now makes to hospital construction and other health grants made on a shared-cost basis with the provinces.

In his London speech, Mr. Douglas said the plan should provide universal hospital and medical insurance, and "ensure that the family physician remains the bulwark of modern medicine."

Medical Insurance Plan Proposed by Premier

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Duff Roblin today called for federal help to institute a comprehensive plan of pre-paid medical insurance for Manitoba residents.

In a brief to the royal commission on health services, which opened five days of public hearings here, Mr. Roblin recommended that Ottawa provide per capita grants to make up the difference between costs of the proposed scheme and premium revenues.

The plan should be "on a voluntary basis." He suggested it might be carried out by the doctor-sponsored Manitoba Medical Service, which now provides health insurance for 400,000 of Manitoba's 900,000 citizens.

There were many people in Manitoba who found present insurance schemes beyond their means — "and among these we include those persons who are not and cannot be classified as indigents, but for whom coverage is essential."

Consideration should be given to writing a deterrent feature — provision for specified charges for certain medicines and services — into the proposed scheme.

"Such a deterrent would have the dual purpose of assuring a minimum revenue to the scheme and would create a necessary sense of responsibility in the users."

STUDY PRESENT PLANS

The commission should investigate the operation and financing of present plans before embarking on any expanded programs entailing additional financial responsibility for the province.

In his submission Mr. Roblin also:

1. Called for a reassessment of federal grants for hospital construction. These had been limited to $2,000 per bed when average costs over the 10 years have exceeded $10,000.

2. Charged that the federal government has not paid its proper share in the development of facilities to treat certain ailments outside of hospitals, at less cost. Chronic care and geriatric treatment were two fields where studies indicated action might be taken.

3. Called for an amendment to the National Housing Act to provide help for charitable organizations in the construction of nursing homes.

4. Said the federal government should pay 50 per cent of depreciation, interest and administration charges under the hospital services plan.

5. Said public health service grants should be increased to reflect increased costs.

Terror Bombings Pushed By Freedomite 'Prophet'

(Compiled from CP)

NELSON — A Freedomite Doukhobor charged with taking part in a bombing testified Saturday he was persuaded by a man he believed was a Doukhobor prophet to make statements saying he was involved in terrorist activities.

Fred Jmaeff, 37, charged with Alex Barisoff, 24, in the bombing of an Anglican Church at Wynndel, B.C., April 13, 1961, said Freedomite Mike Bayoff told him to make the statements.

He said Bayoff told him that Doukhobor problems could only be solved if members of the sect served jail terms. Bayoff, now serving a jail term for terrorist activities, said this was a Doukhobor prophecy. Jmaeff told the B.C. supreme court jury. Statements by both accused describing the making of a dynamite bomb and how it was placed under the church were admitted as evidence Thursday and Friday over defence objections.

Jmaeff said an RCMP officer told him things would go better for him if he made the statements.

Police witnesses denied that any pressure was put on either of the accused to make statements and said no inducements were offered to them.

BOY KILLED

VANCOUVER—A five-year-old boy died Sunday when he was pinned beneath a car in a nearby Richmond ditch.

He was Arthur McCaffrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken McCaffrey of Richmond. Seven-year-old Michael, brother of the dead boy, suffered head wounds. Mrs. E. J. Knight, a passenger in the second car, suffered undetermined injuries.

CEMETERY PROTESTED

NEW WESTMINSTER — Clow Road property owners in nearby Surrey are afraid that a proposed cemetery would contaminate their supplies of well water.

A delegation of 40 property owners protested to a Public Utilities Commission hearing that the 58-acre cemetery planned by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Vancouver would also reduce the value of their homes.

COMPLAINTS 'GROUNDLESS'

VANCOUVER—The federal food and drug inspection bureau here has investigated 24 complaints about tainted or uninspected meat and found them groundless.

Larry Devlin, superintendent of the bureau's B.C. inspection service, said Saturday there is very little meat unfit for human consumption on sale in the province.

"There's a difference between unfit and uninspected meat," he said. "There are lots of municipalities where uninspected meat is sold. Victoria is the best example."

The B.C. branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers checked eight similar complaints and found nothing wrong.

"But I'm still not satisfied," said Mrs. B. F. McCloskey, a branch spokesman who plans to investigate two other complaints.

FARMERS TO MEET

VANCOUVER—B.C. Lower Mainland farmers will hold two more meetings protesting higher land assessments before they take their grievances to the provincial government.

The first meeting will be in Abbotsford Friday and the second in Delta Jan. 23.

The complaints will be taken to Victoria after the legislature opens later this month.

Richmond farmers voted Saturday to retain an assessment to fight the increased evaluations before court of revision next month. The amount will be set later.

Members of the crew of an Imperial rig drilling for oil in British Columbia.

Bringing you oil products at bargain prices is a big job. Right now, for example, Imperial is drilling 30 miles of hole at B.C.'s Boundary Lake oil field. Boundary Lake oil will travel 745 miles to Imperial's refinery near Vancouver, where it will be turned into products. And those products reach you at bargain prices. Take Esso gasoline, for example. On the average, it costs motorists throughout B.C. 6 1/2 cents per pound. Compared with other commodities in everyday use, you won't find a better bargain. Milk, for example, sells on the average for 9 1/2 cents a pound; soft drinks for 12 1/2 cents a pound; even distilled water costs more than gasoline. And of the 6 1/2 cents paid per pound for Esso gasoline, two cents is for federal and provincial taxes that bring you such things as social services and new highways. To bring you this bargain, Imperial has invested more than $80,000,000 in B.C. in the past ten years alone. Yet today, on the average, Imperial gets less for the Esso gasoline it sells than it did ten years ago...and Esso gasoline today is much more powerful than ten years ago.

The Local Taxpayer

MAYOR ALSBURY OF VANCOUVER, and the mayors of cities all over Canada, are complaining that they must raise municipal taxes because they cannot secure sufficient revenues from the provincial governments. But the problems of local government, in Victoria as elsewhere, are only one part of a national problem.

All Canadian municipalities are hard-pressed for money. So are the provincial governments. The government of British Columbia, for example, is running through its former revenue surpluses, has raised gasoline taxes in the last year and now, by the back-door method of higher assessments, is embarked on a much more drastic tax increase affecting most of the home owners. Yet Premier Bennett, saying that the people already are taxed enough, refuses to promise that they will not be taxed still more.

The provincial governments, however, are not in nearly so difficult a position as the federal government. Its deficits are now at an unprecedented peak and while it alone can pay its bills by inflating the currency—as it is doing on a huge scale—inflation itself is the worst and most unfair tax of all.

All these troubles may be visible to the local home owner only when he sees his municipal tax bill but they start in Ottawa.

There is only so much wealth in Canada, of which money is only the symbol and exchange mechanism. When the national government reaches out for more and more of this supply through taxes, borrowing and inflation, less is left for the provincial governments. When they reach out for more taxes, as most of them are doing already, less is left for the municipalities. When the municipalities raise their taxes in turn, less is left in the pocket of the individual. And when he has less to spend for himself business of all sorts is retarded.

Taxes—direct and visible or indirect and invisible in the form of a devalued currency—are a heavy and increasing burden on the whole national economy internally and they weaken its ability to compete in the world market.

But none of our governments, from Ottawa to the smallest municipality, seems to realize that all their immediate financial problems are inter-related, are aspects of the same process and dependent on the same taxpayer.

What precisely is this process? It is the process of a nation spending through government at all levels more than it is willing to pay in taxes and more than it is able to pay out of its existing means. Of which fact the proof is the mounting debts of all governments, the nation's dependence on foreign borrowings and, as a last desperate resort, the inflation of the currency.

When they receive their local tax bills this year the citizens of Victoria and other municipalities should not regard them as only the consequence of local mismanagement. They are the end result of national mismanagement. And lacking better national management we may be absolutely sure that as soon as a national election is out of the way we shall face larger bills from Ottawa also.

No Future in Waiting

MR. BARRY GOLDWATER, the Republican Senator from Arizona, who is on record with many controversial remarks, has voiced another. He says of the United Nations: "The idea was wonderful, but the world is not ready for it."

That does not seem to be a very perceptive remark. The United Nations was created out of necessity because some sort of international meeting place, some form of global agency, was needed to work for world peace and perform many urgent international services.

The United Nations, in short, was formed because the world "was not ready for it." If the world had been "ready for it," that is, ready to agree peaceably on international problems and work in harmony to achieve world betterment, then the United Nations might not have been needed.

By his remark, Senator Goldwater can only mean that until the nations can get on agreeably together there is no use trying to have a United Nations. But that would be the one condition under which a United Nations organization would be needed least.

Warning From Yesterday

WHILE CANADA GIVES sharp attention to "Resources for Tomorrow" in a conscientious study to preserve what we have and bring sanity to exploitation of our wealth, it might find an interesting object lesson in resources of yesterday, Jordan style.

In Roman times, 1500 years ago, Jordan supported a larger population than it does today. It could handle the population because, among other things, it safeguarded its water supply in those days.

The Romans were pretty fair engineers when it came to building reservoirs to husband the seasonal rainfall.

Later, through centuries of neglect, the fine reservoirs silted up, becoming virtually level with the surrounding country. And neglect

And then, of course, Senator Goldwater, in dismissing the UN, does not sketch in the alternative: a world of power politics without a focus of world opinion; without a meeting place for necessary contacts other than summit conferences and the relatively isolated machinery of the embassies; without a recognized brake on the long slide into heavier and heavier armaments, weekend coups—and brushfire wars which could quickly develop into nuclear conflicts.

It is true that the United Nations is into difficult days, facing problems which may even destroy it. But this situation merely demonstrates that the world needs the UN more than ever, not that it isn't ready for it. And if the present United Nations structure were to be toppled through some tragic development, the immediate and pressing emergency of the world would be to organize another similar instrument. East and West and neutralist countries would readily recognize that.

The world is not yet able to make a United Nations function perfectly. But it is terribly ready for the effort to do so, and the effort cannot be slackened for a moment.

A Look at the Hub Cap

THE DES MOINES REGISTER has taken a look at hub caps on automobiles.

Each year, it reports, theft of hub caps costs American motorists five million dollars. And what, asks the newspaper, do hub caps do? It concludes they serve no particularly useful purpose, though the price of them on the American market runs from $9 to $35 a set for ordinary ones and up to $200 for the fancy variety.

But before anyone suggests that hub caps be eliminated, the Register notes that their manufacture gives jobs to thousands of workmen in an industry that may represent $75 million a year. If they were abolished, the steel industry and the gross national product would suffer.

Possibly so. But surely if, as the Register suggests, we can do without hub caps, the steel and labor which goes into their creation could be channelled into some more useful commodity. Then car buyers, relieved of the costs of hub caps, could spend that saving on something else—perhaps the product that inventive minds could create from the steel and labor which now go into the creation of the hub cap.

THEY'VE BEEN LOOKING FOR US

We Came Down Through the Ages—and May Go Lower Yet

By B. A. TOBIN

WELL, they finally found it. And guess where it was? Right under our noses all the time! Right between our ears, in fact. I refer, of course, to the Missing Link.

Tobin

Ever since Darwin's day they've been searching for the Missing Link. Digging up middens, sifting through subsoil, examining caves, poking into a ancient river beds, analyzing fossil remains—it's been a long hunt and there have been a lot of false leads. But now they've found it, and it seems a little silly that we didn't think of this long ago. The Missing Link is us.

When the idea first came out, of course, the plan was to find traces of a creature which would bridge the main gap in the evolutionary scale between the apes and human beings. Evolution seemed to have jumped a span somewhere back there. There was quite a difference between the development of the apes and the later appearance of what we recognize as man's ancient ancestors. There should be an intermediate stage of development which would show that there had been a gradual change from the earlier to the finished product.

Of course, we were off on the wrong track all the time, as a scientist has now made plain. The blunt fact is that the full change hasn't been made yet. In short, as the scientist says, WE are the missing link between the ape and the human being. The real human being has yet to appear.

A lot of folk will reject that, of course. But deep down we must know it is true. The evidence alone leaves no other conclusion, when you come to examine it.

After all, apart from such instinctive acts as protecting our mates and children, ganging up to overcome mutual enemies, and using our wits to make life easier for ourselves, what do we do as a race that's so intelligent? What do we do that the apes don't do?

It is true that we rise to heights of self-sacrifice now and then, acts of pure selflessness. But don't the apes excel themselves sometimes, too? And are our selfless acts so common that they do more than indicate a trend? Aren't they just signposts pointing the way toward a future status as human beings when all our acts will be on that level?

Consider our case history: murders of individuals by individuals for personal gain or for expression of emotion; murder of groups by groups to gain victory in feuds and bids for local power; mass murders by large groups for reasons which no individual ever quite understands; extermination of whole nations and races in a process which we are now perfecting. These seem to illustrate a basic trend down through the ages.

Then, of course, there are the chicaneries, trickeries, conniving, underhandedness, anti-social acts, plundering, cheating, brutalities and so on which have marked our march through the centuries on every level of life and in every conceivable situation.

And we cannot forget the perfection that we have brought to the specialty of our race—the crowning achievement that we have made significantly our own, since no other form of living creature will touch it: torture.

Here we can point to countless centuries of debasing debauchery in the form of pain inflicted on our fellows. We have used every imaginable excuse for indulging ourselves in these practices—we have based our perversion on warfare, on religion, on pleasure, on righteousness, on necessity, on custom, on the good of the victim, on divine law, on destiny, on anything at all that will permit us to still our consciences while we exercise our foul compulsion.

Actually, as a Missing Link we are a pretty weak link, one that the apes cannot be very proud of. There is a very short chain from them to us and a very long one to be forged through the centuries before we can claim to have developed our particular transitory form of life into what could fairly be called a human being. We may not make it.

FROM OTTAWA

Mr. Heath Was Happy With Less Effort Than Mr. Fleming

By MAURICE WESTERN

MR. HEATH, the Lord Privy Seal, who is in charge of Britain's negotiations with the Common Market countries, was fortunate in the timing of his visit to Ottawa.

For the Canadian government has apparently entered the New Year resolved at all costs to seek for silver linings. As Mr. Heath demonstrated at a press conference last week, this spirit commends itself wholeheartedly to the British government.

The warm, cheerful, Auld Lang Syne atmosphere of the Heath visit was all the more pleasant after the somewhat depressing London reports about a "simmering feud" between the two governments.

This impression has, of course, grown up over some months, owing something to Mr. Fleming's public forebodings of last spring, something more to the rather icy communiqué which followed the Sandys visit, drawing strength from the grave apprehensions voiced by Mr. Fleming and Mr. Hees at Accra and further substance from Mr. Fleming's anxious public quest for the full text of Mr. Heath's own speech at the opening of the Brussels negotiations.

None of these suggested that relationship of trust and sympathetic Commonwealth understanding which, according to the two ministers, made the Ottawa talks a joy to all concerned.

While both ministers exuded pleasure at the press conference, Mr. Heath appeared to be happy with somewhat less effort than Mr. Fleming. A question about the "simmering feud," for example, was dismissed by the Lord Privy Seal with the agreeable assurance that his welcome could not have been warmer; that differences of view were best dealt with by frank exchanges of view, etc., etc.

On the other hand Mr. Fleming was moved to a categorical denial that any feud had ever existed; a denial buttressed by such words and phrases as "lot of nonsense," "mischievous," "completely lacking in truth."

The indication in the communiqué that Canadian ministers will provide the British government with "complete information on all aspects of Canadian trade interests relevant to the negotiations in Brussels," suggested to some correspondents that perhaps consultation in the past had been something less than adequate.

Here Mr. Heath came obligingly to the rescue of his Canadian colleague explaining blandly and at some length that negotiation is a developing process and that closer contact will become appropriate as the tempo of the talks increases and as negotiators move from the "wide picture" to more detailed work.

This gave Mr. Fleming an opportunity to announce that the Brussels team is to be reinforced—and very quickly—with top-flight personnel from the department of trade and commerce. Throughout the conference Mr. Heath spoke reassuringly, if somewhat generally, about the protection of Commonwealth interests. He also said, when asked about the "inevitability" of Britain's entry into the Market, that it was "completely wrong" to assume that the U.K. would enter "at any price."

Mr. Fleming was much more specific. He kept on stressing as "very significant" the reservations spelled out in Mr. Heath's now famous speech. In this context he injected a reminder that the Canadian government had never underestimated the size of the problem and that it recognized the "tremendous responsibility" Mr. Heath was carrying.

It was not clear whether this reminder was addressed primarily to correspondents or to Mr. Heath.

Perhaps the most interesting exchange occurred at the end of the conference. Mr. Heath urged reporters to bear in mind how much was at stake in negotiations, not only for Britain, the Commonwealth and Western Europe, but for other countries depending upon them for assistance.

He warned against picking at differences with needle points when the issues were the survival of the West and its free institutions. Mr. Heath did not respond when a correspondent wondered aloud if this warning was addressed to the newspapers or to his Canadian colleague.

When Mr. Fleming was asked whether he concurred in this appraisal, he repeated his comment that Canadian ministers had never underestimated the momentous nature of the negotiations. His thoughts, then, however, diverged somewhat from Mr. Heath's.

He had always seen in British adherence to the Common Market the possibility of gains and losses to all concerned. These would have to be totalled to arrive at an opinion of the probable net result and in any such estimate the terms of entry would be of the greatest importance.

Mr. Fleming concluded by saying that the Canadian government had not been slack in urging the British government to do all in its power to defend Commonwealth interests. This has not been one of the accusations directed against Mr. Fleming and his colleagues and his conclusion was greeted without a flicker of skepticism by the assembled reporters.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Sauce for the Goose

In a recent issue of The Times there was an item about Mr. Gagliardi. It stated that, at last, he was given a fine and temporary licence suspension. This, we know, is after several more warnings than the average person gets. The item states Phil spoke right up and said "They will have to provide me with a driver. I have a lot of travelling to do, and they will have to see to it."

John or Jane Citizen, having broken the laws and rules, supposedly set down for the safety and guidance and observance of all, has no choice but to either stay away from work till the licence is reinstated, or find a way to pay a driver to take him to work. He surely would not get very far, if he or she demanded the use of a driver, for free.

Is there one set of rules for Mr. G. and such, and another set for the rest of us? I have heard of diplomatic immunity, but did not know that it was applicable to traffic offenders among our paid servants.

WONDERING

Non-Canadian Eyes

Your weekly columnist Professor Emery is a fellow most amiable, lively and entertaining if somewhat glib and superficial at times. He continually fails, however, to note truly Canadian traits.

Some time ago he lectured the B.C. Liquor Board for not stocking exotic French wines. He should understand that Canadians cannot assume these cultural features of France, Canadians will of course develop their own drinking customs as all people have done.

Again, your columnist gained notoriety lately by belittling the work of an eminent Canadian novelist, Morley Callaghan, who then rudely denounced Mr. Emery. But for all Mr. Callaghan's lack of grace and manners, his charge that Mr. Emery is not qualified to interpret Canadian culture would seem to be correct.

I am confirmed in this opinion by Mr. Emery's recent remarks on Canadian painting. He dismisses the epic Canadian canvas by Tom Thomson,

"The West Wind," as not worth looking at. Mr. Emery then goes on to praise what is undoubtedly great French art. But he fails to see in Thomson's work what a man who knows the Canadian wilderness sees.

Here is a pertinent passage for Canadians like Mr. Emery to ponder. It's from the Yearbook of the Arts in Canada for 1930.

"This is our homeland, and some of us can see it so with our eyes and not with the eyes we brought across the Atlantic, still hazy with Scottish mists and rose-tinted by English blossoms."

"How shall the artist fare when the audience sees its country and its country's art through an old glamour—the product of centuries of blood and flags and creeping ivy and the bells of churches in the fields—a glamour which is not here! Our own glamour is what the artist here is trying to show us, but at present we may not see it."

The People of Goa

I have to thank you for your own excellent editorials on this unpleasant business of Goa and Nehru's behavior but when Elizabeth Morris of Lisbon writes on "Who and What are the Goans?" the whole picture seems sadly distorted for the ordinary reader. She says that of the three-quarter million population "all but some 1500 are racially pure Indian." I do not know quite what that means, but it is obviously not correct.

The Portuguese were not colonizers. They were navigators who wanted trade. After nearly a hundred years of heroic struggle they found their way round Africa to India and some 450 years ago established Goa as a strong post to protect their trade and further the Christian religion. There were no women with them and the home government resolutely refused to send any, urging—as I understand they do now in Portuguese colonies—the men to marry locally. This they did and though sickness and death made return very unlikely they have left their progeny. These are the Goanese of today.

When Portugal's manpower weakened in later years, prisoners from jail and a few women were sent. They also married locally and added to their numbers. In recent years a number of Indian laborers have come in to work a large iron ore field but I think the population is still over 40 per cent Christian. With the naval powers of Holland, France and Britain sweeping in, Goa became just a place on a map for most people. It is a sad story and one cannot help feeling sorry for Portugal, our ally for 600 years. May the son of Vasco da Gama continue to shine brightly over the bones of St. Francis Xavier, who preached the gospel to the Moghul Emperor in Delhi and Kashmir and died in China, and of Albiquerque, who drove the infidel Turks from the seas. Both are buried in Goa.

Well, Nehru has got his Goa by force just as he did with Hyderabad and Kashmir. India itself may rue his example; throughout its long history before we came it had been a land of warring princes and chieftains. The old colonial powers wither or die because their hands are tied. They made mistakes but they enforced law and order in the world because men were afraid. Communism should die because men's minds are tied. One would think that with more goodwill around, the United Nations Air Force could smack any evil doer, anywhere and make him behave himself.

German Rightists Led by Ex-Nazi

GOETTINGEN, Germany (AP)—Members of the right-wing All-German Party picked a former Nazi big-shot to lead them in 1962 and called for a more flexible national policy to achieve unification of this divided country.

Delegates attending a rally Sunday in this old university town named Hermann Ahrens, deputy head of the state government in Lower Saxony, to succeed the two-pronged leadership of Fran Selboth and Herbert Schneider. Selboth and Schneider did not seek re-election.

In his acceptance speech, Ahrens emphasized the need for what he called German national policies from the federal government and feelers "toward all sides" for unification of the two Germanys.

SENTIMENTS SIMILAR

Similar sentiments were expressed Saturday in the Westphalian town of Hagen at the formation of the right-wing German Freedom Party. The group is composed of former members of the outlawed Neo-Nazi Socialist Reich party and dissidents from the German Reich party, another organization often tagged with the Neo-Nazi label.

India Votes Next Month

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's third general elections will begin Feb. 2 and end in most areas by Feb. 25, the election commission announced today.

About 210,000,000 persons are eligible to vote for members of the lower House of Parliament and state assemblies.

Only Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party is running enough candidates to win control of Parliament and most assemblies. Other parties seek only to become the leading opposition group.

Alberta Liberals Choose Town Mayor

CALGARY (CP)—Dave Hunter, 48, mayor of Athabasca, was elected leader of the Alberta Liberal party, defeating rancher Bryce Stringam, 41, Saturday, at the party's annual convention in Calgary.

More than 500 delegates gave Mr. Hunter what was termed a decisive margin over Mr. Stringam. The vote was not announced.

Both candidates have expressed optimism about party chances to upset Alberta's Social Credit government. Mr. Hunter, a sandy-haired, ruddy-cheeked automotive and implement dealer, re-affirmed this stand Saturday.

"It can be done," he told delegates in his victory speech. The Liberals were left with one seat in the 65-seat provincial legislature after the Social Credit landslide in the June, 1959, Alberta general election. Social Credit captured all but four seats.

Both Mr. Hunter and Mr. Stringam made a province-wide tour prior to the three-day convention. Mr. Hunter said the tour removed his doubts that the Liberals could form the next provincial government.

The new leader, father of four, is a one-time farmer with a lengthy record of public activity. He is a former president of the Union of Alberta.

Innocent Heart Murmurs

I am glad to see that the American Heart Association has published a leaflet which tells us about half of the children between the ages of 3 and 7 years, at times, have a harmless heart murmur which should not cause the parents anxiety. Often the child is so active, so healthy and so free from any sore throat, fever, anemia, or any sign of illness, that it is foolish to put him to bed.

Hundreds of times during my medical life, while listening to someone's heart sounds, I have asked, "Did a doctor ever get alarmed over your heart murmur and, if so, when did that happen?"

Then, many an active, wide-awake, hard-working and remarkably healthy man or woman has said, "You know, that was discovered 50 (or 60 or 70) years ago, and for months I was kept in bed. Finally, my good old family doctor came to my rescue—pointing out to the specialist that I wasn't at all ill. He said, 'Why not let him up, and let's forget it; that must be a functional murmur.'"

Back in 1902, when my wife entered a university, she was found to have so loud a murmur that she was not allowed to "take gym." But the murmur never bothered her, even during her pregnancies; and today she can walk along the street fast enough even to keep up with me.

This is the typical story of millions of people and this is why a pessimistic doctor who does not know how to recognize harmless heart murmurs can easily scare many a person "half to death." Some of the loudest heart murmurs I ever heard were doing no harm, and were due to a peculiarity of the heart the person was born with. Often, when someone with an apparently harmless heart murmur writes me he is much worried by a frightening opinion, I suggest that his good doctor refer him to a heart specialist for consultation.

Alvarez

In an interesting article by Dr. Eva J. Salber with Elizabeth Goldman, Magda Buka and Barbara Welsh of Harvard, I learn that in the Newton, Mass., high schools 6,810 students answered a questionnaire as to their smoking habits. The incidence of smoking in boys rose from 7 per cent in the Seventh Grade to 46 per cent in the Twelfth Grade. For the girls, the corresponding figures were from 1 to 35 per cent.

In all the grades, the boys were the heavier smokers. Interestingly, on an average, it took from 1½ to two years of experimenting with cigarettes before the student became a confirmed smoker. In the Twelfth Grade, 18 per cent of the boys and 10 per cent of the girls were smoking five packages or more of cigarettes a week.

As a physician who has seen many heavy smokers come into my office with a cancer of the lung, or a bad chronic bronchitis, or an asthma or a paralyzing emphysema (loss of elasticity of the lung), I cannot help but be distressed on learning that, so early in life, so many boys and girls are on their way to a lifetime of heavy smoking. There are two dangers of heavy smoking seldom discussed as yet: one is the tendency to die after an anesthetic, and the other is the tendency to die quickly if a pneumonia comes.

Dr. D. M. Hortsman and his associates in the department of pediatrics at Yale University School of Medicine has just reported on a study of 350 pre-school children who have been given the new oral type of polio vaccine.

Although 79 per cent of the children had previously received three or more doses of a killed virus vaccine of the Salk type, about a fifth of them lacked the antibodies in their blood which would show that they were protected against polio. The results of giving the oral vaccine were excellent and the investigators advise that the vaccine be given even to children who have had the Salk vaccine.

A man writes asking why does he often get a distressingly red nose. I can't guess, but there are several causes that one can think of. I assume that he is not drinking alcohol to excess. I have seen some cases in which the red nose was due to the taking of bromides to sleep, or the taking of some iodine for asthma.

In a few cases, I have seen the nasal infection clear up instantly when one or two badly infected upper central incisor teeth were removed. There are also skin diseases such as rosacea that attack the nose. If I had the trouble, I would go to the best skin specialist I could find and let him struggle with the problem.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Treasure Those Native Flowers

The delicate, quiet beauty of our native flowers in their natural surroundings are a delight to all who have eyes for such things. When they occur on property being bought or sold, they should be treasured.

Where there are native trees and underbrush, it can be safely assumed that one or more kinds of wild flowers will make their appearance in season.

If neighbors in the vicinity cannot give any clues on the subject it may be necessary to wait through an entire year, certainly through an entire spring for the different kinds to appear.

Hilda

The reason for mentioning our native plants in this garden column is because of the rapid disappearance of many of our loveliest kinds. Unless a few gardeners decide to maintain native gardens these will soon be seen only in the officially designated conservation areas. The built-up districts will be without the stately blue carnations, the dainty Easter-lily (erythronium) and even the native ferns so useful and effective on bare rocky outcrops.

THINK ABOUT IT

It is no doubt a great temptation to level out a lot and create a garden along conventional lines, but where dogwoods, firs or oaks are already growing think a long time before destroying one of them. The advice and opinion of more than one person should be sought, but the first one should be a naturalist thoroughly familiar with the native plants on the island.

THEY CAN TELL

We are fortunate in having several such people in Victoria, and they are able from experience to know the association of plants in a given environment, and can guess pretty accurately those which would likely appear at other times of the year.

Cleaned out of tangled undergrowth and weedy vines, a garden lot dedicated to native plants would be a singularly peaceful retreat for busy city folk. Requiring a minimum of care and upkeep it would still satisfy the urge that most of us have to work occasionally with the soil—yet it is the one kind of garden which would permit plenty of leisure to enjoy it to the full.

Coal Output Hits Low Since 1906

MONTREAL (CP)—Coal output from Canadian mines has hit its lowest level since 1906, C. L. O'Brien, chairman of the Dominion Coal Board said in a report released on the weekend.

He said the total output from Canadian mines in 1961 was estimated at 10,320,000 compared with the 1960 total of 10,970,000 tons.

The decrease in supply, he said, was due to a falling off in consumption. The greatest single factor had been the loss of the railway and bunker markets to diesel and fuel oil.

Mr. O'Brien said bunker markets probably would be stabilized at 500,000 tons a year for use in ships—a drop from 12,000,000 tons in 1951 and 700,000 tons in 1961.

C. L. O'BRIAN
... hopes for future

"The tremendous loss of markets in these categories now is almost over," he said. "Coal is gaining ground in the iron and steel industry, is almost holding its position in general industry, and is looking forward to substantial gains in the thermal electric field."

"There is now evident a factual basis for this prediction on the future of coal in thermal power. In the Maritime provinces, reported plans for new generating equipment in the next three years call for installation of an additional 162,000-horsepower of thermal power."

CHANGES TO COAL

"In Ontario the thermal plants of Ontario Hydro have been operating at a higher level than for several years."

"In Manitoba and Saskatchewan, the coal from Estevan fields is holding its own against natural gas. In Alberta, the enlarged Wabamun plant of the Calgary Power Company is changing over from gas to coal and a potential consumption of 2,000,000 tons per year is anticipated."

"Employment in Canadian mines has reflected the general picture. The Dominion government initiated a comprehensive series of projects to provide alternative employment for the displaced miners."

"This... is a long-term proposition and will require a growing labor force for some years as well as providing a base for other employment in the service industries."

"Altogether, the picture for coal, Canadian and imported, while still gloomy, contains the promise of substantial and early improvement."

Capozzis Purchase Brewery

KELOWNA (CP)—The property, buildings and equipment of the defunct Princeton Breweries Ltd., has been purchased by a Kelowna family, it is announced.

Joe Capozzi, manager of Shops Capri and Capri Motor Inn, said he and his brothers Herb and Tom have made the purchase.

He said plans now are under way to demolish the buildings and sell the equipment and property.

NO BUILDING PLAN

Mr. Capozzi said he and his brothers have no intention of building anything on the site once buildings have been torn down and equipment sold.

He said the equipment, refrigeration units, boilers, air compressors and lighting fixtures, are up for sale now.

Canada Boosts Export of Oil To U.S. Market

WASHINGTON (AP)—Imports of crude oil products from Canada increased again during November after having held steady during October, the interior department reported Sunday.

The exempt imports—overland imports coming directly from the country of origin of the oil—totalled 229,993 barrels daily from Canada.

During October the imports from Canada ran 218,943 barrels daily and in September they were 218,971. In November, 1960, the imports from Canada totalled 137,241 barrels daily.

U.S. BALANCE DOWN SHARPLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. balance of payments situation took a sharp and unexpected turn for the worse in the last quarter of 1961.

Preliminary figures indicate that the payments deficit soared to an annual rate of about $5,000,000,000, not far from the peak rate of $5,700,000,000 recorded a year earlier at the height of a rush by foreigners to buy American gold.

CANADIANS THINKING OF ELECTION

U.S. Tariff Group to Keep Trying

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—A source close to the five-man U.S. cabinet delegation which held talks at Ottawa said the delegation found the Canadian government "preoccupied" with the prospects of a Canadian general election and the possible loss of Canadian tariff preferences in Britain.

The informant, who was at the two-day economic talks that ended Saturday, said the U.S. delegation failed to obtain Canadian agreement to adopt a policy similar to President Kennedy's revolutionary proposals to slash world tariffs.

"We made some headway in that they (the Canadians) agreed to a general statement on backing free world-trade but that is as far as they would go," he said. "We are not pessimistic and will keep on trying."

Britain's negotiations to enter the six-country European Common Market and Kennedy's proposals to exchange large-scale tariff cuts to expand trans-Atlantic trade were major issues before the Canadian and American ministers at the seventh meeting of the joint committee on trade and economic affairs.

The American group, headed by Treasury Secretary Dillon, went to Ottawa with the hope of persuading the Canadian administration to back Kennedy's program by adopting a similar policy for Canada, the informant said.

The American view is that if the Kennedy program is ever approved and brought into operation Canadian exporters would reap large benefits in bigger markets in the U.S. and Europe.

The Kennedy administration maintains Canada should not expect a "free ride" in trade concessions without providing some of her own.

The informants said the talks were useful but that the Canadians seemed to "see things through election glasses."

CHURCH PERSECUTED

ROME (AP)—A Catholic news agency said Saturday Czechoslovakia's Communist government has started a wave of violence against the Roman Catholic church, arresting, torturing and sentencing a large number of missionaries. The Divine Word news service, published by the Divine Word Missionaries, said in a news dispatch from Paris that seven of the 16 missionaries—all Czech born—were sentenced to concentration camps for periods of six to 14 years.

NIGHTLY UNTIL SATURDAY

Near-Capacity House Applauds 'Don Juan'

By PETER MATTHEWS
An interesting experiment in theatre, in which the set and lighting were most effective, was presented for the first of seven performances Saturday at Langham Court Theatre.

Directed for Victoria Theatre Guild by Bert Williams, George Bernard Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell" opened its run to a near-capacity and appreciative audience.

Mr. Williams did not pioneer the art of the dramaturge in Victoria—this type of drama-tized reading was done frequently a number of years ago. But with Dylan Thomas' "Under Milk Wood" last season, and now with "Don Juan," he has carried the idea a step further, to include scenic effects, special lighting and, in this opus, even some carefully disciplined movement. The play is actually Act III of "Man and Superman" and is said to comprise practically all Shaw's philosophy of life.

Mr. Williams presented his actors in modern full evening dress. Each of the four carried a small bound copy of the script and while they read from these, obvious familiarity with the lines gave life and character to their delivery.

For Robert Price as "Don Juan," this was a first appearance in a major role. He showed confidence and ability though his range and tempo suffered at times.

Helen Smith read Dona Ana pleasingly, her diction and fine carriage being particularly noticeable.

WELL-CAST

As Dona Ana's father, the "statue," Kenneth Bostock was well cast and performed in the excellent style that has earned most of his performances on the local stage.

A smooth, proficient reading of the part of the "Devil" was provided by Bruce Banvard.

Set design was by Brian Paddon, lighting and music by Allan Purdy.

The performance will be repeated nightly through to Saturday with curtain at 8:15.

WARM, TENDER TONE QUALITY

Young Artist Poised, Competent

By AUDREY JOHNSON
Admirable qualities of musicianship and keyboard proficiency were demonstrated Sunday by Victoria Symphony Orchestra's 17-year-old guest pianist Patricia Perrin of Toronto.

A young artist with poise, a delightful platform manner and no affectations, she performed the Mozart Concerto in E-flat major K.271 with the orchestra and brought it off with artistic competence.

Miss Perrin and symphony conductor Hans Gruber were in fine "rapport" interpretively, resulting in a sensitive, balanced, and firm partnership between soloist and orchestra.

TENDER TONE

Lyric passages on the solo piano were delightful; eloquently phrased and revealing a warm, tender tone quality as well as an alert musical intelligence. Miss Perrin has a keen rhythmic instinct through which she controls her playing without any sense of rigidity.

Within natural limitations she has achieved a substantial degree of technical competence. However, true "brio" is lacking as yet and at times I felt the musical ornamentation obtruded overmuch.

Miss Perrin has some way to go before being able to command any great range of color and tonal dynamics but at 17 she also has plenty of time. In both promise and achievement she is at the moment an admirable young artist, however.

Tour de force for the orchestra was Tchaikovsky's Overture to "Romeo and Juliet." This was a truly dramatic performance, opulent in color and excellent in its evocation of mood.

The Beethoven "Eroica" Symphony which opened the program has had better performances under Mr. Gruber's baton. Sunday's was an uneven rendition in which certain aspects of the orchestra and certain passages of the work were infinitely better than others.

Possibly the Scherzo movement saw the orchestra at its unified best, both technically and interpretively.

This concert, which was performed at the Royal Theatre at 8:30.

Bloodiest Period Since War Began

ALGIER (Reuters) — The first two weeks of 1962 were the bloodiest since the Algerian nationalist insurrection began more than seven years ago, military officials said today.

A toll of 31 dead and 70 injured Sunday brought the total since Jan. 1 to 228 killed and 489 wounded.

Fears of more killing spread through this North African territory. The toll for the whole weekend was 50 persons killed and 117 injured.

Some 7,000 French troops and police were reported to have moved into the Algiers area during the weekend to reinforce a 10,000-man security force already on duty here.

This followed the insurgent Algerian provisional government's call last week for action to meet the attacks of the outlawed European extremist Secret Army Organization.

In one attack here Sunday five men in a car—believed to be a secret army vehicle—machine-gunned and bombed an Arab cafe, killing seven Moslems, including an old man and a child, and wounding 16 more.

Shortly after a carload of Moslems machine-gunned a car occupied by a European family, killing the mother, the father and two children and seriously wounding the remaining child, a 14-year-old girl.

A school for the deaf was founded in Paris in 1755 by Abbe Charles de l'Epee.

ISRAELI military expert Israel Beer was sentenced in Tel Aviv Sunday to 10 years in prison for espionage. Beer was found guilty of collecting secret security information for an agent of an unnamed foreign state.

Big Space Balloon Bursts In Spectacular Display

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A huge U.S. space balloon broke apart hundreds of miles above the Atlantic Ocean today as it was inflating to the size of a 13-story building.

The breakup of the big ball—dubbed Big Shot—showed several pieces of aluminum-coated plastic into the ocean about 600 miles southeast of the Cape. The pieces, illuminated brilliantly by the rays of the rising sun, provided a spectacular show for observers.

The 500-pound bundle of plastic sheeting was folded in a canister in the nose of a Thor rocket which blasted off at 6:06 a.m. (EST) in an experiment aimed at testing techniques for launching an advanced Echo communications satellite.

A few minutes after the launch, it was announced that the balloon had separated from the Thor and started to inflate. But then it was announced that the balloon had split apart during the inflation process.

The reason for the failure was not immediately known.

LOOKED LIKE STAR

The balloon at first appeared as a solitary star drifting slowly upward in the dark, clear sky.

Suddenly, several other bright objects appeared to surround it. The fragments climbed upward for approximately the intended maximum altitude of 950 miles before starting a quick descent, leaving wavy vapor trails in their wake.

Big Shot was to have inflated to a diameter of 135 feet, which would have made it the largest, but not the heaviest, space vehicle ever sent aloft.

The shot is expected to be repeated as soon as today's trouble is pinpointed. If the second shot is successful, a similar sphere will be rocketed into orbit later this year as Echo II.

Amsterdam has been the capital of The Netherlands since 1814 although the seat of government and royal residence is at The Hague.

JFK TARIFF PROPOSALS BACKED BY PEARSON

OTTAWA (UPI)—Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson has described President Kennedy's tariff-cutting proposals as "realistically far-sighted" and said they would have "the active support and encouragement of a Liberal government in Canada."

Pearson also said in a statement, his party, if in power, would urge the United States to work toward lowering tariffs on Canadian products which he described as "an important barrier to our trade."

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I can't drink," Tony Quinn was saying a recent evening in 21. "I have an allergy. I get some thing on my chin."

"Except," he remembered suddenly, "pulque, the Mexican liquid fire, I can drink by the hour..." and Jack Daniels. "I'll have a Jack Daniels!"

Tony, one of the highest paid actors in the world today and certainly among the nicest, learned the dangers of alcohol from John Barrymore when he was 19. Though swooning female fans might throw themselves off rooftops over Quinn or do other headline-type things, Quinn'll never get them being a boozier.

"I was playing Barrymore at the age of 65 in a Mae West show called 'Clean Beds' when I met Jack," Quinn recalled.

"He came backstage when I was taking off my makeup, laughed at me being only 19, and we became fond of each other. He took me home and gave me the armor he wore in 'Richard III.' I still have it."

"He was trying to get me to marry his daughter, Diana. Two years later I was at Paramount when he was having wife trouble."

KEPT $100

"The poor guy was getting $5,000 a week and could only keep $100 of it. I was making a fast $300, but it was mine. Jack was so saturated by that time that we would give him a glass of water with a teaspoon of vermouth in it, and psychologically, he'd soon be drunk."

Barrymore taught Quinn not to "play it safe" in choosing roles—"You can only be as good as you dare to be bad," he said.

And that's guided him in "Requiem for a Heavyweight" in which he plays a punch-drunk fighter, managed by Jackie Gleason, trained by Mickey Rooney.

"I completely change my voice," Quinn said. "I remembered a fighter named Abie Bain. After he was hit in the windpipe by Maxie Rosenbloom, a peculiar thing happened to his voice."

Quinn got Abie Bain on the picture payroll and learned his voice.

"When I tried it first, without telling anybody, the director never said 'Cut,' he let it roll. The whole crew broke into applause."

And Abie Bain rushed over saying, "Sweetie, you didn't tell me you were doing my life story!"

Quinn's picture price now is $250,000 but he remembers once when his $750 a week contract seemed gigantic. He'd been offered a very bad picture—"It was horrible, but I had a wife and three kids. I walked in to see Jack Warner ready to say 'I'd do it.'"

"Before I could talk, Warner said to me, 'Oh, you don't like the script!' Bogart turned it down, Garfield turned it down, Dane Clark turned it down. You I'm turning down!"

REPEAT IT

Furthermore, Warner said, Quinn was through. Tony's agent at the time, Charlie Feld-

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Malinda Aldrich, age 10, of Frankfurt, Germany, for her question:

How Big is the Universe?

This was a very popular question even before the first man-made satellites went into orbit. Now we are planning to go into space and this makes us still more curious about the heavens. We learn that some stars are billions of miles away and beyond them are more stars. Naturally, we stretch out our minds and ask where it all ends. If we get an answer, we stop stretching and turn our minds to learning what science has so far found out about the universe.

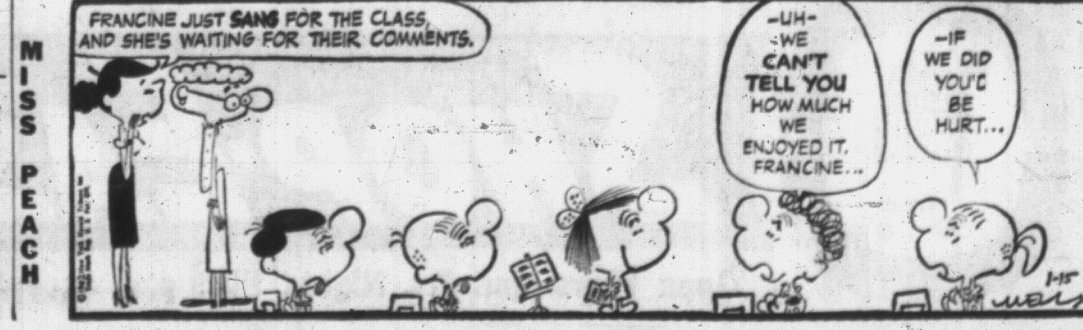

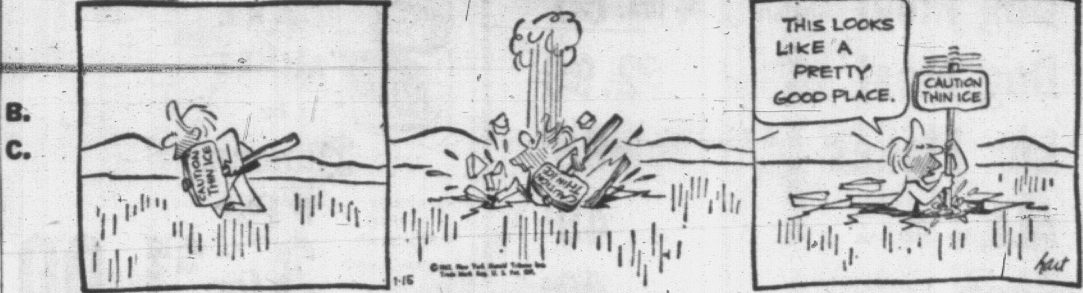

A rocket travelling at 1,000 miles an hour could reach the moon in about 10 days and the sun in about a year. The solar system is more than 7,000 million miles from side to side and the nearest star to our sun is about 26 million million miles out in space.

Telescopes Locate Sisters

The Milky Way is called an island universe, for it is surrounded by vast oceans of empty space. But this is not the end of the universe. Some 75,000 light years from the Milky Way we have a sister island universe, bigger than our own. Within 250 million light years of the sun there are 25 similar star systems. Our telescopes have probed 1,000 million light years in all directions and in this vast space there are perhaps 100 million island universes.

The real universe includes our world, our solar system, our island universe and all its sisters. It includes countless island universes and all the vast oceans of space between them. Our minds cannot even imagine the end of the real universe. If someone claimed to reach it, we would ask what is on the other side—and this too would be part of the universe.

Our minds cannot imagine a limit to the universe which includes everything. But our telescopes are probing deeper and deeper into outer space and the count of all the newly-discovered galaxies is still being made. They seem to be speeding away from each other and our present knowledge indicates that the vast universe is expanding. This is another mystery of the universe which we cannot explain.

ANOTHER WIN

ARCADIA, Calif. (CP)—Canadian-owned Four-and-Twenty won his second straight rich stakes race in a week Saturday, scoring an easy three-length victory in the $54,400 San Fernando Stakes at Santa Anita.

Vikings Trip Jittery UBC

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Victoria College Vikings, capitalizing on a series of University of B.C. mistakes, whipped the UBC juniors, 57-51, Saturday night in an exhibition basketball game.

The visitors led only 25-24 at the halfway mark but outscored UBC 32-27 in the final two quarters. The jittery UBC team threw the ball away 23 times during the game.

Centre Darrell Lorimer scored 19 points for the Vikings while George Bride added 14 and Bill Hobbs scored 10. High scorer for UBC was Steve Spencer with 17.

Watson Awarded Mat Decision

Whipper Billy Watson was awarded the deciding fall over Gene Kiniski in the feature match of Saturday's professional wrestling card at the Memorial Arena.

When the bout ended many fans among the season's largest mat crowd of more than 2,000 spectators charged toward the ring to protest Kiniski's roughhouse tactics.

Another winner was Mr. Kleen, who disposed of George Posti in about three minutes.

Ball looks big and easy to handle, and that may be one reason why Bill Russell (6) of Boston Celtics looks surprised as pass intended for teammate goes out of bounds during Sunday's

Fast-Finishing Jacobs Wins San Diego Event

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Tommy Jacobs beat Johnny Pott in a sudden-death playoff Sunday and won the $25,000 San Diego Open golf tournament.

The head-to-head extra-hole duel between the 26-year-old Pott and the 27-year-old Jacobs ended abruptly on the 347-yard first hole of the Star-dust Country Club when Jacobs sank a 14-foot putt for a birdie three after Pott had parred the hole.

Jacobs moved into the picture when he shot a six-under-par 65 and posted his 277 for the regulation 72 holes. Pott was in the last three, some to finish and came in with a 69 to match the 277. The complexion of the tournament changed completely in the final nine holes of play as both Mike Souchak and Bob Gouby, the leaders after 33 holes, fell back in the drive for the $3,500 first prize.

Souchak wound up with a 72, Gouby, 71, and a tie at 279 with Jay Hebert, who also had a 71.

HE SETS THEM UP

Playmaker Jones Gives Bucs Draw

By The Canadian Press
Centre Art Jones, a lightweight in the Portland Buckaroos' lineup at 155 pounds, appears to specialize in assists.

He set up two third-period goals Sunday night to salvage a 4-4 Western Hockey League tie with Seattle Totems.

Last season Jones, 26, collected 64 assists and 36 goals to win the league scoring title.

Seattle and Portland played cautiously in the overtime session, both parrying for a scoring break that never came.

In Saturday's only contest, Spokane Comets whitewashed the Totems 4-0.

Yves Locas scored two Spokane counters in the first period. Bev Bell and Steve Wittuk had singles.

The Totems opened the scoring after 31 seconds in the first period Sunday when Garry Leonard flipped in a rebound. Tommy McVie then scored twice in rapid succession to put Portland ahead. Defenceman Gordy Sinclair tied it again for Seattle.

Rudy Filion battled in a rebound, for the only goal in the second period, to put Seattle ahead 3-2. Carl Hughes made it 4-2 for Totems early in the third frame on a pass from Leonard.

Jones set up a goal for Gene Achymichuk and minutes later another for Dale Rolfe for the 4-4 tie.

Chiefs dropped a pair over the weekend to Alberni Athletics.

CAME CLOSE

Looking better than at any time this season, Chiefs faltered only in the dying moments at Central Junior High gym Saturday. The untimely collapse allowed Alberni to sneak in with a 69-60 victory.

Back at their home pitch Sunday, Alberni had no trouble with Chiefs, walking off with an 84-53 success.

Veteran Doug Brinham fired 20 points Sunday for the Athletics, who piled up a 46-21 half-time lead. John Devlin paced Victoria with 13 points.

BEST OF SEASON
Brinham also collected 20 points Saturday. Denny Grisdale added another 13 for Alberni.

Ed Steele topped the Haida snipers with 11 points. Bill Watson, Ken McCulloch and Bill Spotswood each scored 10.

Kidd Gets Third, Bad Foot and All

BOSTON (CP)—Bruce Kidd, the Toronto middle distance star who startled the Knights of Columbus track meet here last year by winning the two-mile race, made a game try to repeat his win Saturday night despite an infected foot. He could do no better than third.

But another University of Toronto runner, 22-year-old Bill Crothers, scampared to victory in the 1,000-yard run. He also survived a claim of foul.

HARROWING DAY

Kidd, a doubtful starter right up until race time, finished behind Nourse and Pat Traynor of Villanova.

The upset of Kidd was expected after a harrowing day. He had arrived in mid-afternoon Saturday with an infected blister under a corn on the top of his big toe on the right foot.

He spent several hours in bed, under medical treatment. The blister had become infected Thursday in Toronto, had been lanced six times and Kidd had received penicillin injections along with poultice treatment.

DECIDED TO RUN

The pain subsided and Kidd decided to run and convinced officials that he could go the two-mile route.

On his tender foot, Kidd rated himself off the pace until the last quarter mile. From fourth place, some 10 yards back, he moved into the lead with his floppy-arm style.

He thrilled the crowd of nearly 13,000 as he battled Nourse and Traynor for the lead which changed hands several times. In close quarters Kidd took a pounding from Traynor's elbows.

With the sounding of the bell lap, Nourse, never a winner in major competition, sprinted for home to beat Traynor by two yards in 8:59.8.

PLAINLY WORN OUT

Kidd, plainly worn out from his game effort, gave up the uneven battle in the last 60 yards, jogging in at the finish with a time of 9:06.4.

The 132-pound youngster who holds the U.S. indoor three-mile and cross-country championships declined to offer excuse after the race. "I have plenty of alibis, but I don't think it was any of them. I just ran poorly."

WILT CRACKS POINT MARK

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Will Chamberlain set a regulation game scoring record Saturday night with 73 points to lead the Philadelphia Warriors to a 135-117 National Basketball Association victory over the Chicago Packers. Chamberlain's 29 field goals and 15 fouls erased the mark of 71 set by the Los Angeles Lakers' Elgin Baylor in 1960.

Plante Sparkles As Habs Score Double Triumph

Montreal Canadiens still lead the National Hockey League race, mostly because of the heroics of their masked, wandering goaltender.

Jacques Plante faced 49 shots, the most by an NHL goalie in one game this season, Saturday night at Montreal when his mates scored a 5-3 triumph over Boston Bruins.

He handed 30 shots at Boston Sunday night to spark Canadiens to a 4-1 win.

The double victory boosted Canadiens' lead atop the standings to two points as second-place Toronto Maple Leafs won and tied.

The Leafs edged Detroit Red Wings 4-3 on Saturday night on centre Billy Harris' second goal with less than two minutes to go.

Sunday night at Chicago, the Black Hawks forced a 2-2 tie on power play goals by Stan Mikita and defenceman Pierre Pilote in the third period.

RANGERS LOSE TWO

New York Rangers lost 4-2 at Chicago Saturday night and 2-1 at Detroit Sunday night when the Wings' Norm Ullman scored with only 90 seconds left.

The defeats dropped the Rangers into fourth place, three points back of the third-place Black Hawks and only one point ahead of fifth-place Detroit.

Claude Provost was the hero for the Canadiens' offence at Montreal. He scored his 23rd and 24th goals of the season and helped set up two more for linemate Henri Richard.

At Boston Sunday, Ralph Backstrom scored twice for Montreal. Gilles Tremblay and Phil Goyette got Montreal's other goals while Johnny Bucyk tallied for the Bruins.

ABLE REPLACEMENT

Harris, pressed into fulltime action as an emergency measure, scored his first goal in the second period and then banged in the winner at 18:18 of the third period for the Toronto win.

At Chicago, the Leafs went ahead on goals by defenceman Bobby Baun and centre Dave Keon before the 10-minute mark of the opening period.

The Hawks got a break at 5:46 of the third period when Toronto's Eddie Litzenberger was penalized, and before he returned to the ice Mikita got his 13th goal of the season.

PILOTE TIES GAME

Pilote got the equalizer about five minutes later. This time Leafs' defenceman Tim Horton was serving a hooking penalty.

Dean Prentice gave the Rangers a 1-0 lead at Detroit after 42 minutes of scoreless hockey. But the Blueshirts couldn't hold it and wound up losing their fifth straight game when Claude Laforte and Ullman scored.

There were no penalties in this game, a rarity in the NHL.

'Frisco Lefty Squash King

By JOHN BASSETT

A 25-year-old lefthander stole the mistress of Seattle squash from under the nose of its king in a stirring Sunday wind-up to the Centennial Pacific Coast championships.

Larry Sears, a slim San Franciscan, grabbed the "A" Flight/Loving Cup with a hectic 3-2 defeat of top-ranked Pacific Coast squasher Gene Hoover of Seattle in the Sussex Hotel courts.

The cup, first presented 13 years ago for annual competition, had never left the confines of Seattle club members until Sunday.

From the way Sears laced side wall shots, and mixed his opponent up with odd, deft corner drops, it would seem the Loving Cup had better get used to her new master. He just might have her for a spell.

On his way to the final, Sears took the measure of two other top-ranked Seattle players, Tom Owens and Ted Clark, making it three in a row with his conquest of Hoover.

Also displaying considerable guile and determination was Victorian Dr. Kem Greenwood, who came back from a two-game deficit to capture the "A" veterans title with a dramatic 3-2 win from Vancouver's Bob Wade.

In the ladies' division, Mrs. Marjorie Stephenson took the measure of fellow-Victorian Joyce Fairbairn, 3-0, to win the championship.

Scores of finals follow:
A Veterans—Kem Greenwood, Victoria, defeated Bob Wade, Vancouver, 3-2.
B Veterans—Walt Paulson, Portland, defeated Lou Coulter, Portland, 3-2.
A Flight—Larry Sears, San Francisco, defeated Gene Hoover, Seattle, 3-2.
B Flight—John Bassett, Victoria, defeated Fred Baker, Vancouver, 3-1.

NANAIMO (CP)—Bill Clift and his rink of Ron Lindsay, Craig McRae and Dick Coates defeated Jim Spinks of Duncan to win the Vancouver Island boys' school curling playoffs Sunday.

The Nanaimo rink won the best-of-three series in straight games taking the first 7-6, and the second 9-8.

Nanaimo now plays in the regional finals at Burnaby next Saturday.

Regional winner enters the British Columbia finals at Trail, Jan. 27.

Unitas' Late 'Bomb' Gives West Squeaker

LOS ANGELES (AP)—

With two seconds left, Johnny Unitas tossed a 12-yard touchdown pass to Jay Arnett Sunday to give the favored West a 31-30 come-from-behind victory over the East in the National Football League Pro Bowl.

The scoring toss provided a wild climax to one of the most hectic Pro Bowl games in history. A few minutes before, Jim Brown of Cleveland had shaken off four tacklers to ramble 70 yards for a touchdown that put the East ahead 30-24.

Minutes after Brown's run electrified the Coliseum crowd of 57,409, the big fullback was named the most valuable player of the game. But as the clock was running out, Brown fumbled on a routine running play when he was hit by a jarring tackle from the West's Bill George of Chicago.

George also recovered and with about a minute remaining, it was the West's ball on the East 41. Then Unitas went to work.

The Baltimore star passed 15 yards to rookie Mike Ditka of Chicago, then 14 yards to Colt teammate Lenny Moore. With 15 seconds left, a Unitas pass for Moore fell incomplete.

As the seconds ticked away, Unitas shook off New York's Andy Robustelli, felled to his left and threw a scoring strike to the Rams' brilliant halfback Arnett, all alone in the end zone.

Jim Martin of Detroit kicked his fourth conversion for the West and it was all over. Y. A. Tittle of New York starred in a losing cause, tossing touchdown passes of nine and two yards for the East and engineering several other long marches.

Brown's touchdown run broke the old Pro Bowl record of 66 yards set by the Colts' Alan Ameche in 1958. The big fullback was tackled on the goal line by San Francisco's Abe Woodson, but lurched over for the score.

MacLeod Bids For Fourth Win In Medal Series

A pair of Victoria professionals who toil in Canadian national parks during the summer months finished 1-2 in the first round of the spring monthly medal golf series.

Ron Jasper, MacLeod, bidding for a fourth straight medal victory, captured low honors Sunday at Uplands with a one-over-par 71. Runner-up with a 73 was 19-year-old Dick Munn, assistant pro at Banff.

Officials of the Victoria and District Football League might be excused today if they are considering installation of stop-and-go signals because of congested traffic.

It's a snarled situation in the top echelon of the 12-team soccer circuit with only two points separating the six leading clubs.

Gorge Hotel, passing regular league action at the weekend, was forced to move over and share the top berth with Duncan Rangers, a rugged club that promises to give all rivals trouble down the home stretch.

Rangers earned the tie for first place Sunday with a 2-1 win over Kickers in a bruising battle at Heywood Avenue. All the scoring came in the first half, with Ralph Thorne and Joe Corsi counting for Duncan and George Zambrano notching the Kickers tally.

EVCOES CLIMB
Evcoes moved up into a tie with Victoria West, one point behind the co-leaders, defeating Heaneys 5-2 as Maurice Bunyan chalked up what may be a local soccer record.

Bunyan booted three penalty goals for Evcoes, who got their other markers from Charlie Constable and Alex Stewart.

Doug Currie and Ron Pedersen scored for Heaneys. Moving within two points of the pacesetters and into a fifth-place tie with Kickers was Canadian Scottish, 2-0 victors over Esquimalt. George Robbins booted both goals for the Scots.

Evcoes and Gorge tangled next Saturday in the Jackson Cup final.

CRABBE TAKES CHARGE
Gorge, twice held to overtime draws by Brodies Bakery in the semifinal round, finally made it into the final Saturday at Royal Athletic Park.

Playing before the largest crowd to watch a VDEFA match this season—about 500 fans—the Hotelmen ushered the Bakers to the sidelines by dominating play in the second half and chalking up a 3-1 victory.

Brodies had the best of play in early stages, going ahead after 10 minutes. But Gorge goalie Archie McMillan was unbeatable the rest of the way and centre-forward Chummy Crabbe took charge on attack.

Crabbe tied the score at 31 minutes and sent his club ahead to stay 12 minutes after the intermission. Put through on a pass from Crabbe, Kurt Lampert fired the third Gorge goal to just about erase the Bakers' last hopes.

UNBEATEN RECORD

Martin Rink Island's Best

COURTENAY—Flora Martin's Victoria rink is sitting firmly on the Vancouver Island women's curling throne today.

Mrs. Martin and her Victoria Curling Club mates proved their right to the Island crown in convincing fashion, chalking up six consecutive victories here in the seven-rink zone playdowns.

Starting the final draw Sunday, only the Nanaimo rink skipped by Frankie Serjeant had a chance to catch the Victoria quartet. Mrs. Serjeant had won four of five outings while Mrs. Martin owned an unblemished mark of five straight wins when Saturday's curling ended.

Nanaimo, meeting Edna Southern's Alberni-Valley rink, still had a chance to tie Victoria and force a playoff if Esquimalt, piloted by Harriet McCaw, could snap Mrs. Martin's victory skein.

But Mrs. Martin, who had chalked up decisive 15-3, 12-6, 14-2, 10-2 and 14-3 wins in her first five matches, was not to be denied. Again getting fine support from third Edythe Pick, second Helen Edwards and lead Martin Smith, she defeated Mrs. McCaw to make it six straight and clinch a berth in the district playoffs.

The four-rink district final is scheduled Jan. 26-28 at Vancouver. The winner will advance to the provincial playoff next month in Penticton.

DUNCAN BONSPIEL

Freddy's Ready To Defend Title

DUNCAN—Freddie Duncan goes after a second consecutive Vancouver Island zone curling crown at Nanaimo next weekend and has to be given a good chance of retaining his title.

Performing on home ice in the annual Duncan Curling Club bonspiel, Duncan was tossing rocks in championship style all the way as he emerged with victories in two major events.

When the 'spiel ended Sunday, he had piloted his rink to triumphs over Nanaimo quartets in finals of the Grand Challenge and No. 1 events.

Another Duncan rink, guided by Art Webb, captured the No. 2 event and visiting crews came home in front in the other three events.

DEFEATED DUNN
Duncan, getting by Courtenay's Ole Carlson in the semifinals, went on to take the first event with a 7-4 victory over Nanaimo's Dave Dunn, who had sidelined Victoria's Larry Marshall in the fours.

In the grand challenge final, Duncan came up against the Nanaimo rink of Harry Gulka and continued his unbeaten march with a well-executed 8-5 win.

Webb, beaten by Duncan in the semis of the Grand Challenge, took the second event final with a 9-5 conquest of Lyle Gordon's Victoria crew.

Sam Rycroft, beaten by Gulka in the challenge semis, chalked up the lone Victoria victory, guiding his rink to a 14-5 triumph over Pete Prest of the host club in the final of the No. 3 event.

Gulka took the fourth event, besting Glen Harper, of Duncan, 8-7 in the final, and the Vancouver rink of R. Andrews

Stamps' Debt $47,000

CALGARY (CP)—A loss of $35,000 was chalked up by Calgary Stampers of the Western Football Conference in their 1961 operations.

Together with an earlier deficit, Stampers start 1962 with a total debt of about $47,000.

Extra costs from a fast shuffling of players in and out of training camp sent salary and travelling expenses to a record $411,000, compared with about $382,000 in 1960—the biggest reason for the loss. Most other expenses were about the same.

Totems, St. Louis Collar Cage Shows

Emphasizing ball control, Victoria High Totems methodically worked over West Vancouver Highlanders, 47-40, Saturday night, to emerge as the only unbeaten team in a two-game senior high school exhibition series. In the second game at Victoria High, North Vancouver leaned on Oak Bay Rebels, 53-37 as Lou Metzner fired 19 points for the winners.

At Esquimalt High School, St. Louis College walked off with the honors, trimming Esquimalt Dockers 53-44. A strong zone defence and 16-point efforts by Barry Maloney and Ed Tomczyk were the main factors for St. Louis. Getting 22 points from Jim

Victoria College XV's Sweep Rugby Games

Victoria College athletes battled to a pair of three-point triumphs Saturday in the Victoria Rugby Union's first division.

Vikings, the school's "A" team, squeezed out a 3-0 win over James Bay and the Norsemen downed Naval Technical School 63 on a try by Mike Bassett and a penalty goal by Tim Price.

Oak Bay Wanderers Reds hammered out an 11-6 win over Royal Roads and the Oak Bay Whites were snuffed out of a scheduled exhibition contest at Vancouver.

MINISTER INTERESTED IN HELPING TEST TEAM

LONDON (AP)—Rev. David Sheppard, who gave up cricket to do church work in London's tough dock area, was widely touted today to captain the England cricket team in Australia next winter.

He has not played in top-class cricket for two years. Sheppard, 32, admitted he was interested in the England captaincy and said he might take six months off from his duties to play.

The possibility was promptly headlined on all British sports pages. Cricket followers have been casting around for captain in view of the failures of the England team now touring India and Pakistan.

Ted Dexter, one of England's heroes in the test matches against Australia in England last summer, is captain of the England team in India. It is heading for defeat in the test series there and Dexter has been criticized.

Bruins Follow Cougar Pattern

If scores in exhibition games mean anything, the Island junior hockey playoff between Victoria Cougars and Esquimalt Bruins should be a dandy.

Both have squeezed out one-goal victories over the Vancouver junior PNE Indians.

Cougars clipped Indians by a 7-6 count on New Year's Day and Saturday night the Bruins followed the pattern at Esquimalt Sports Centre, nipping the PNE club by a 5-4 count.

England's Bats Keep Hopes Alive

MADRAS (Reuters)—India was still in a strong position Saturday at the end of the third day in its final test cricket match against England here, although it lost three second-innings wickets cheaply.

England, out for 281 in its first innings reply to India's 428, trailed by 147 runs. Then it dismissed three Indian batsmen for 50 runs—the first breakthrough on the stranglehold which India had clamped on the test.

India was 65 for three at the close and led by 212 runs.

Fine batting by Mike Smith and an enterprising display by the tall-enters enabled England to reach 281 after the fall of its seventh wicket at 189.

Smith justified his recall to the side by scoring 73 in 200 minutes, with a six and eight fours.

India needs only to draw this test to win the best-of-five series. It won the fourth test and the others were drawn.

'Cold Years Ahead in U.K.'; U.S. Midwest Still Buried

LONDON (AP) — High winds and freezing weather spread over much of northern Britain Sunday, icing roads and endangering shipping.

The French trawler Massabielle was forced aground off the Hebrides Islands off northwest Scotland. Lifeboats stood by to await an attempt to refloat her.

Meanwhile, a meteorological office expert said Britain is probably at the beginning of a period of colder climate, which may reach its depth near the year 2200.

H. H. Lamb, in charge of a team of scientists studying long-term climatic changes, said reports of melting glaciers in the Alps and thinner snow coverings in recent years probably were true.

But they probably represented the end of a warmer era rather than the beginning of one.

Rivers in scattered parts of France were at flood stage Sunday, threatening towns and farmlands from Lorraine in the northeast to the Atlantic Coast in the southwest. At least five deaths were attributed to torrential rains that caused flooding in the lowlands and melting of snow in the mountains.

ONLY 39, according to him, Jack Benny, Sunday, celebrated his 35th wedding anniversary with Mary Livingstone. Benny attributed the success of his long marriage to his wife. "It's Mary," he said. "She has a great deal of courage."

Polaris Protest

GLASGOW (CP) — More than 1,000 Scots marched to the U.S. consulate here Saturday to demonstrate against the American Polaris base on Holy Loch.

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavy snow blanketed broad areas of the U.S. midwest today, piling atop the big covering still on the ground from last week's storm.

The storm, which swept north-eastward from eastern Kansas and Oklahoma, dumped from one up to six inches of snow in a belt extending from northern Missouri northeastward across northwestern Illinois, into southeast Wisconsin and western lower Michigan.

Snow depths in the region ranged from eight to 10 inches. Chicago, hit by an 11-inch snowfall a week ago, started digging out from the fresh fall which was expected to reach eight or nine inches.

Driving conditions were reported hazardous throughout the snow belt. At least three traffic deaths were attributed to slippery highways, one each in Kansas, Missouri and Iowa. Three persons died of heart attacks while shoveling snow in Illinois.

Air travel also was curtailed in some cities.

Hampshire sheep, hornless and with black face and feet, have spread to many parts of the world from the English county.

SMALLPOX SUSPECTS HUNTED

Cyclists Ready to Rush Vaccine

LONDON (AP) — Hundreds of Pakistani immigrants were sought throughout the north of England today by medical teams trying to check the spread of smallpox in Britain. Health officials said the search was launched in the belief that immigrants from Pakistan—where the disease has claimed hundreds of lives—brought infection to this country.

Five Britons have died so far in the outbreak, which has sent thousands rushing to special clinics for vaccination. One man who died in a hospital near Leeds Sunday is thought to be another victim but has not yet been confirmed as a smallpox case.

Hospital in districts around industrial Bradford—where most of the fatalities occurred —reported that a number of suspect cases are under observation.

Health officials toured cotton mills in Lancashire and Yorkshire calling on Pakistanis to come forward for medical examinations and vaccination if necessary.

ALL PAKISTANIS CHECKED
All persons from Pakistan arriving at London Airport were being checked for vaccination certificates.

Dr. John Douglas, Bradford's medical officer of health, said he expected more than 60,000 residents to have been vaccinated by tonight.

"Doctors have gone cross-eyed looking at bare arms," said an official at one Bradford clinic.

Teams of motorcyclists stood by on five-minute notice in the English Midlands, ready to rush smallpox virus to any hospital which discovers suspects among its patients.

Dr. Donald Johnson, a Conservative member of Parliament, announced he will demand an immediate debate on the smallpox scare when the House of Commons meets later this month after its Christmas recess.

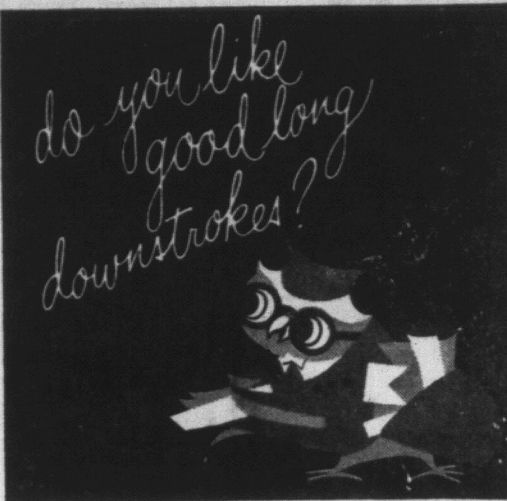

"I want instant action on this unchecked immigration into Britain," Johnson told reporters. "I want to limit their entry—to screen immigrants carefully before they are allowed to stay."

The outbreak has sent a ripple of mild alarm through Britain. It has been virtually free of the disease for more than 30 years.

Pakistan Toll Up

KARACHI, Pakistan (Reuters)—Smallpox has killed 13 persons here in the last 48 hours, a source at the epidemic diseases hospital said Sunday.

It is believed to have originated with two Pakistani immigrants who arrived here around Christmas and were on contact with hundreds of people before their smallpox symptoms emerged.

AWARD-WINNING BRANCH BANK DESIGNS ACCENT WIDE USE OF NICKEL STAINLESS STEEL

Exterior architectural components, interior hardware and ornamental accessories illustrate versatility of stainless steel in modern buildings

An all-Canadian branch bank design competition sponsored by the Stainless Steel Design Award Committee has produced some striking examples of contemporary architecture and industrial design featuring extensive use of nickel stainless steel. The competition is part of a continuing program aimed at fostering good design in Canadian stainless steel products.

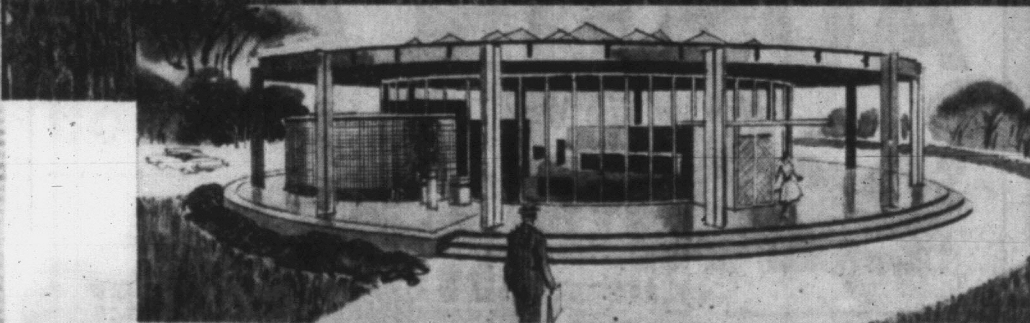

The award-winning designs featured the use of stainless steel in such diverse applications as curtain walls, roofs, entranceways, window frames, furniture, fixtures, cashier booths, drinking fountains, drive-in service facilities, vaults, safety deposit boxes, door hardware and many other items.

Nickel in stainless steel helps strengthen it, increases its resistance to heat and corrosion, makes it easier to form and fabricate into attractive and useful products for the home, for modern industrial and commercial applications. As the world's largest producer of nickel, Canada benefits from the increased use of nickel stainless steel throughout the world. And Inco through worldwide sales, market development and service activities has helped build world markets for Canadian nickel.

'Ma' Mackie Hates To Leave

"Ma" Mackie is retiring after 26 years' association with the city jail as police matron.

Mary Mackie — invariably "Ma" to her charges and working cohorts — hates to leave after a lifetime in, or on the edges, of police work.

"It has given me a real wrench to have to say goodbye to all the people who work at the police station. They are a fine bunch to work with and I loved the work — every minute of it," she said.

"I suppose I came by the work naturally, since a lot of my brothers and nephews had been in police work and I had learned a lot from them," Mrs. Mackie said.

SOFT WORDS

Her biggest lesson was to use her characteristic smile and a soft word rather than persuasive force.

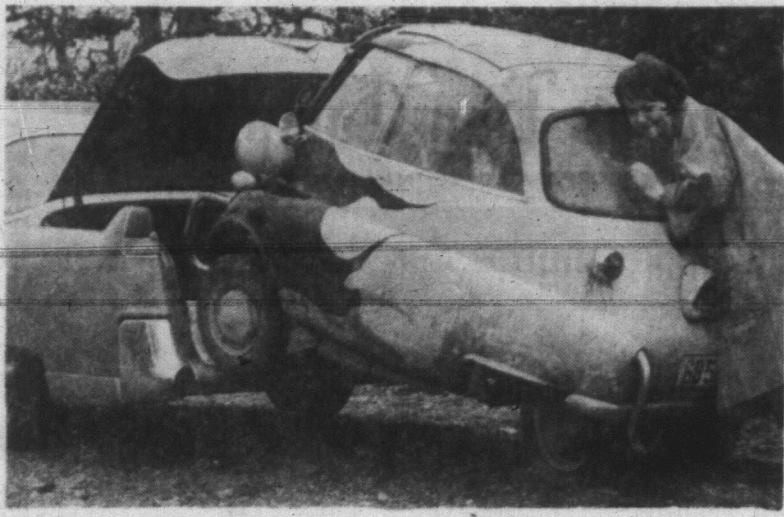

"You have to be understanding and human above all things," she said.

Her service ends Jan. 31, earlier than she would have liked, due to poor health.

Mrs. Mackie was born in Lanarkshire, Scotland, coming to Canada in 1924. She married in Vancouver. In 1936 she became relief matron at the city lockup.

Her husband, semi-invalided for 19 years, died eight years ago.

She had planned to journey home to the Highlands, but with early retirement she will "just take it easy" here instead.

"JUST IN CASE," seems to be the thought of Victoria College student Barbara Emery, "this might be handy to have in the trunk." Barbara's long, long American model is one of the biggest cars on campus, and the

MIXED BAG AT COLLEGE PARKING LOT

By LES MILLIN
Times College Correspondent
Transportation is a problem when you're operating on a low budget.

With $3 a week the minimum cost of bus rides for college students, many have taken refuge in driving cars and joining car pools.

There are nearly 1800 students clogging the halls of Victoria College, which means the parking problem may soon be as acute as the bus problem.

Cheek by jowl in the college's two student parking lots stand brand new models and old flivvers, lean, low sports cars that can do well over 100 miles per hour and antiques whose owners don't dare drive them at better than 10 miles per hour downhill.

In length they vary from the two student-driven Cadillacs to the two student-driven Isettas, German cars which are slightly shorter than the Cadillacs are wide.

Probably the most powerful of the student cars is the Jaguar XK 150, which can do "an honest 140," contrasting with the Isettas, whose single cylinder can push them along at a breezy 30 on the highway.

Oddly enough, the most unusual car on Victoria College's campus belongs not to a student, but to a professor.

Prof. John Carson of the college's classics department drives a 1932 Morris to the campus every day, a black and yellow model with wire spoke wheels that makes the two-block trip from Prof. Carson's home belching smoke as it goes up the hills.

One of his colleagues, however, rides a bicycle.

'COME TO TOWN'

Meter Space To Spare —At Last

City officials are anxious to tell shoppers they can get parking downtown now that meter rates have been doubled.

"I hope that the knowledge becomes general that we do, in fact, have spare meter spaces available in the downtown area," said parking committee chairman Ald. Michael Griffin over the weekend.

"Those wishing to come to town to shop will be able to find space to park."

BIG SUCCESS

Ald. Griffin said the 10-cent-an-hour rate had been completely successful in achieving one of council's goals—driving all-day parkers off the streets and onto off-street lots.

However, the loss of revenue from the meter-feeders has crippled one of council's other hopes — that the rate increase would rapidly build up a fund for future development of civic parking garages and lots.

37% INCREASE

Only about $5,000 has been realized for the fund at the end of five months operation at the doubled parking rate.

Actual "take" from August to December was $84,474, an increase of some 37 per cent over the corresponding period the previous year. But operating expenses and a one-mill transfer to general fund are first claims on the receipts.

MONTE ROBERTS

The board of directors of the Old Jokes Home wish to report on two applications for admittance to the Spoonerized Pun wing.

UNAPPROVED: The one about the Furries. You know, a scientist lands on the moon, and is making notes on the flora and fauna, when he notices a fauna looking animal. This animal is covered with fur and doesn't seem to have any arms or legs, and the scientist says, thinking out loud, I wonder what that animal is? "I'm a furry," replies the animal. "Thank you," says the scientist. "But what's that beside you, the animal all covered with fur except for a burned patch on his head?" "That," says the animal, "is a furry with a singe on-top."

COMMENT: The board of directors realizes this is a needy case, but to be classified as a true Spoonerized Pun, it would have to be about a furry, not a furry. And whoever heard of a furry?

APPROVED: The one about the sewage disposal expert who killed his brain to medical science. You know the one; after his death, the doctors were deliciously happy to examine his brain. It was their first chance to see a filtering man's thinker. COMMENT: Welcomed with open arms, because it qualifies on all counts; it is overworked, old, tired, capable of being told in either 10 minutes or 10 seconds, and a Spoonerized Pun in the purest sense.

REMINDER: The board of directors of the Old Jokes Home wish to remind the public that nominations for admittance should be addressed in care of M. Roberts, The Victoria Daily Times, Victoria, B.C., and should be pre-fumigated wherever possible.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

J. A. Corlett, 2746 Shelbourne, won the Best Bird in Show trophy at the weekend Vancouver Island Roller Canary Club's fourth annual show in the C and C Hall.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—It is true that there are 25 billion people living today how many have died since the dawn of civilization?—J.S.

A.—A recent report advises that "one out of every six people who ever lived are alive today." That would make the total number of deceased 15,000,000,000.

Q.—Would you please give me the names of the girls who became "Miss Canada" in the last five years?—B.G.

A.—The following were winners of the "Miss Canada" contest held annually in Hamilton, Ontario: 1961—Connie Gail Feller of Ottawa (by reversion to Nina Holden of Victoria); 1960—Rosalyn Keenan of Fredericton (Vivi Petersen of Victoria was runner-up); 1958—Danica D'Hondt of Vancouver; 1957—Joan May Fitzpatrick of Windsor.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with local news of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve, condone, or legal problems. No will be attempted to put a value on one's coin, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

'I AM A LOVER OF PEACE' SAYS SAANICH HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER

Story of Freedom Told by Former Czech Diplomat

By JOHN BASSETT

On a Monday morning in August, 1952, Dr. George Mares, Czechoslovakian consul-general to Canada, resigned his post at Ottawa and refused to return to his homeland.

Nine years later, on a September afternoon this same man conducted his first language class to students at Saanich's Claremont High School.

His story is one of sacrifice, readjustment, hardship and fortitude.

It is a story of freedom, and what it meant to one man, his wife, and three daughters.

NO REGRETS

For the Mares family the price of this freedom was the loss of relatives, friends and all hope of financial benefit.

Now the 53-year-old ex-diplomat says, simply: "I've never regretted my decision."

Seated in the living room of his rented Brentwood home, Dr. Mares talked quietly about his defection.

"I am a lover of peace," he said. "The Communist Korean policy was one I could not come to terms with, neither could I support the general Moscow alignment."

But deeper than these conflicts with state policy was the underlying desire that his three young daughters, then aged 13, 11 and eight, be allowed to grow and mature as their natures led them.

SAW U.S.

"For these reasons I resigned," Dr. Mares said.

He loaded his family and the few possessions in a trailer and headed for the west coast. The trip was good. "We saw a lot of the U.S. and Mexico before arriving to settle in Victoria."

But things here were not good at this point. Dr. Mares, a lawyer in Czechoslovakia and a diplomat able to converse in seven languages, could not find a job.

Finally he found a clerical position offering little opportunity and less pay. The family left for Nanaimo after a year.

At first the situation was much the same, a growing family and little money to feed it. The girls, formerly accustomed to new and fashionable clothes, made do with hand-me-downs, and Mrs. Mares, raised in a family used to chauffeurs and butlers, learned quickly the limits of a narrow budget.

TRANSLATOR

"Then all of a sudden I got very lucky," said Dr. Mares. "The Pacific Biological Station in Nanaimo needed a translator. I applied and got the job. We were very happy." But in 1955 the federal government decided to do the translating in Ottawa, and once again the ex-diplomat was out of a job.

The next five years proved to be the most trying period in the life of the family, brightened only by the marriage of eldest daughter Helena to Vancouver reporter Peter Feltham, and the proud day in 1958 when the Mares became full-fledged Canadian citizens.

Dr. Mares now went from job to job. There were long periods between some of them.

He sold insurance for a time, real estate at one point, and for a short period was a hearing aid salesman. "It was not too good for a long time."

During these years Dr. and Mrs. Mares watched proudly as daughters Markyta and Hanna, 21 and 18 respectively, grew into beautiful young women.

"It was, and still is, a great delight to me to watch my daughters express themselves as they wish, to be able to make up their own minds in a country that allows them to do so," said Dr. Mares.

LEAD ROLE

Helena is now a mother of three little girls of her own, and Markyta, an attractive blonde, is studying theatre in New York after a successful lead role in her first Toronto play last fall.

Hanna, the ash-blond haired "baby" of the Mares girls, is a talented young artist with a flair for portrait sketching. She attends school at Claremont and her father teaches her three classes a week.

"In 1960, after much soul-searching, I decided to become a teacher," said Dr. Mares. "I realized it was the natural profession for me. Here I was, in a new country, young all over again actually, so I thought I could learn with my students as well as teach them."

A year at UBC and Dr. Mares had his certificate, and in 1961 he applied to teach German and French at Claremont. He was accepted.

Going daily from his home to school and back again the new teacher has had much time to think.

"This is a good country," he says, "with good people who let you follow your own path. I really believe my daughters, although they will never know it now, are living much happier lives than would have been possible otherwise."

"As for me, my happiness comes with their happiness and also with the joy of teaching."

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, JANUARY 15, 1962—PAGE 21

CHECKOFF APPEAL UNDER WAY

Legislation Aimed At NDP, Court Told

Labor legislation passed by the B.C. government last winter was designed to "destroy the New Democratic Party at its inception," the B.C. Court of Appeal was told today.

"No provincial legislature has the constitutional power to interfere with the growth and development of any political party," said Vancouver lawyer T. R. Berger at the start of an appeal expected to last three days.

Mr. Berger is representing the 160-member local of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' Union in a further bid to have a contentious clause in the B.C. government's Labor Relations Act (Bill 42) declared invalid.

The clause requires union officials to sign a statutory declaration that dues collected by checkoff will not be used for political purposes.

CHECKOFF STOPPED

As a result, the Imperial Oil Co. in Vancouver stopped the checkoff last April 15 because the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' Union had failed to file such a declaration.

Mr. Berger told the appeal judges their decision would be "vital" to the future of trade unions in Canada, since millions of dollars worth of dues are collected every year by payroll deduction.

He said the Canadian parliamentary system is founded on the existence of political parties and any law which "impedes the form, growth and development" of a political party is unconstitutional.

UNION LOST

Mr. Berger challenged judgment of Mr. Justice Norman Whittaker in Supreme Court last Aug. 25 when he ruled against the union and dismissed the action with costs.

Mr. Justice Whittaker found that the disputed clause was not beyond the powers of the legislature and declared it protected the "fundamental rights of the individual" to support the political party of his choice.

Mr. Berger stated that, since the Supreme Court hearing, the New Democratic Party had been founded (on Aug. 4, 1961) and was designed to contest provincial and federal elections.

O'NEAL CALLED

He wished to introduce further evidence relating to the party, and E. P. O'Neal, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor, might be called as a witness.

Mr. Berger also challenged the judgment of Mr. Justice Whittaker when he said: "There is nothing to prevent union members contributing as private citizens to the party of their choice."

The appeal is being heard by Chief Justice A. C. Des Brisay, Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran, Mr. Justice H. W. Davey, Mr. Justice F. A. Sheppard and Mr. Justice C. W. Tysoe.

It is opposed by T. E. H. Ellis, QC, representing the Imperial Oil Co., and by Douglas McK. Brown, QC, and A. Fouks for the B.C. attorney-general's department.

Home-School Group To Meet Wednesday

The Glen Lake Home and School Association will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Elementary School.

Holiday Asked Aug. 2 For Official Birthday

First in 22 Years If Council Approves

Victorians may get a public holiday Aug. 2, anniversary of the city's incorporation 100 years ago.

Proposal by the centennial committee "will be considered by city council," Mayor R. B. Wilson said today. Meanwhile, it was learned that the centennial committee may get Kinsmen Bingo organizer Jack Phillion as its new co-ordinator.

Under the Municipal Act, if the council declared Aug. 2, a Thursday, as a public holiday, all shops would have to close.

Last time city council declared a civic holiday was 22 years ago.

The 1939 council declared the morning of May 30 a public holiday to honor the visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth to Victoria.

STORES OBJECT

In 1959, a similar suggestion was made to honor the visit of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip but it was rejected by council after considerable discussion because of financial loss to business firms.

Instead, council "requested" stores to close voluntarily. Most did so for a few hours so that their employees could witness the civic reception for the Queen.

A similar controversy probably will boil up again. But it is expected that there will be a stronger drive to obtain an actual holiday declaration which would compel store closing.

The suggestion of a public holiday was made in a calendar of events issued today in printed form by the centennial committee. It was followed by a question mark.

PAGEANT START

Official centenary ceremonies and opening night for the city's historic pageant are scheduled for Aug. 2.

Meanwhile, formal search for a successor to centennial co-ordinator Archie Willis began over the weekend with advertisements for applications.

An informed source indicated that Mr. Phillion's name will be among the applications when they are opened Thursday.

He is considered the No. 1 contender for the job because of his promotion experience in handling the Kinsmen Club's Giant Bingo events.

Mr. Phillion, who also has "youth" on his side, operates a Fort Street shoe repair store and a parking lot.

If he gets the $400-a-month job, he will be the third to hold the controversy-ridden post.

JACK PHILLION

Quick Start On 30-Mile Island Road

Work will start as soon as snow is cleared on a $2,000,000 new highway up the east coast of Vancouver Island linking Campbell River and Kelsey Bay.

Award of two contracts for the 30.62-mile job was announced by the highways department.

First stretch, 15.27 miles from Menzies Bay to Roberts Lake, will be built by Dawson Wade & Co. of Vancouver at a cost of $966,003.

LOW BIDDERS

Second stretch, from Roberts Lake to Sayward, will be built at a cost of $1,037,093 by Miller Cartage & Contracting Ltd. of Richmond.

Both firms were low bidders when tenders were opened in December.

A highways department official said the whole job would take about a year. It will be a two-lane highway with paved shoulders of the same standard or better than the present Island Highway to Campbell River.

Door Opened—Just Crack By Oak Bay Committee

First Oak Bay council committee to "break the sound barrier" is the newly-formed works and parks committee, which opens its doors to the press at tonight's inaugural meeting.

Nothing special is planned. It's just that "There has been so much criticism," chairman Coun. Fred Robinson said.

The subject of administering municipal business behind closed doors—at committee meetings and in committee-of-the-wholes sessions of council—came up at last month's elections.

Several candidates advocated a freer approach to making local policy.

Coun. Robinson, former chairman of the works committee, was named last week by Reeve George Murdoch as head of the combined works-parks committee.

15 Schoolgirls Lead Oak Bay To Civil Defence

A class of 15 school girls is one of the first units to enlist with Oak Bay's new civil defence organization now seeking volunteers.

The 16-year-old girls will be trained in home nursing by St. John Ambulance, civil defence officer Geoffrey White said.

A basic 100 volunteers covering all categories of emergency organization is sought by Mr. White to enable more widespread training of volunteers.

Initially, training headquarters except for first aid and home nursing courses, will be the basement of the municipal hall.

New Sanctuary Of Wildland At Westholme

Cabinet approval of a new "wildland sanctuary" park near Duncan is expected this week after a 46-acre land donation to the B.C. government.

The new Class C park will be at Westholme, off the Somers Road, about seven miles north of Duncan.

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood said the donor wishes to remain anonymous. A cabinet order establishing the Class C park probably will be passed this week, he added.

The park will be similar to the 136-acre Thomas S. Francis Park in Saanich which is being preserved in a natural state.

The same parks board headed by Freeman King of Victoria, will administer the new Westholme Park.

By MICHAEL ROSE

Canada will take a giant step into the forefront of world astronomy in June when a new 48-inch telescope is officially put into operation on Little Saanich Mountain outside Victoria.

The $700,000 space prober is Canada's newest and most advanced. It was conceived and designed by members of Dominion observatory branch of the department of mines and technical surveys.

Although smaller than the 72-inch telescope on the same site, the new instrument's radical design will enable local astronomers to accomplish tasks hitherto impossible or lengthy.

GIANT CAMERAS

Modern telescopes are not just giant versions of the common "spyglass," but giant cameras able to detect light from distant stars, invisible to the naked eye, but detectable on ultra-sensitive plates.

Older telescopes were self-contained with all the "camera" equipment mounted on the same base as the telescope proper. There was a limit to size and therefore efficiency since the entire assembly has to be rotated and tilted.

LIGHT REFLECTED

In its dome the "newcomer" telescope is mounted on an upper floor and the light received from stars observed is reflected down to a lower floor.

Because there is no limit on space here "camera" equipment of greatly-increased size and efficiency has been built. Observatory director, Dr. R. M. Petrie, said this will enable his staff to plot speed, direction, size and composition of stars with an accuracy previously unattainable.

Dr. Petrie said the new "scope" will be officially put into service during a conference of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific, a lay-professional body, June 21, 22 and 23.

Make Your Pictures Fun ... Put 'Em in Smart Frames

By PENNY SAVER

Pictures are fun to have. Often people spend a whole evening looking back over a collection of family photos that date for years.

Remember when Aunt Mildred fell into the lake with her best dress on? Look how Dad caught the expression of consternation on her face. And there's Dad, holding the "one that didn't get away." That's a good picture Mom, why not have it enlarged and framed and hang it in the den.

What about Junior's school picture? Grandma would love to have one. Should frame it and send it to her.

Frames are not as expensive as you might think either—at least not ones I saw. Wooden frames, painted either gold or silver with clear glass, are only 98 cents for 12 by 14 inches and 59 cents for five by seven inches. Not bad, eh?

Gold colored metal frames are three and one-quarter inches by four and one-quarter inches for 55 cents and eight by ten inches for $1.09. At these prices you can't afford not to have all your favorites done.

A big problem in our house is always, what can we do with the left-overs. So often, jars we save for them are too small to hold what you want to keep, or too tall to fit on the shelves of the refrigerator. What to do? It's such a shame to waste it all.

Small one meal size casserole dishes I saw are really dandy for the job. They have lids to keep hot meals warm and to cover refrigerator items. Guaranteed, too, not to break in the oven. Price is only 49 cents each.

Large casserole dishes are a necessity in any kitchen too, and I was looking at some particularly good ones that are oven-guaranteed. They're white with clear glass tops. One quart size is $1.19, one and a half quart, $1.29, two quarts, $1.49 and oval shaped $1.09. Sound like good buys? They are!

DEAR ABBY...

There's Always a Solution!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Every Christmas my husband gets an 18- or 20-pound turkey from his boss. Our problem is that neither my husband nor I care for turkey that much and there are just the two of us. Once I roast it we have to eat it up and you know how sick you can get of turkey after a while. We aren't so well off that we can throw or give it away. Would it be all right to sell it? That doesn't seem right somehow.

TROUBLED: DEAR TROUBLED: Don't sell it. Why not roast it and invite some friends in? Or cook it and freeze what you don't eat. Or get a cook book and discover how many ways there are to fix turkey. There's turkey salad, turkey soup, turkey hash, creamed turkey, stewed turkey and cold turkey. If you prepare it properly, you'll gobble it up in no time.

DEAR ABBY: My parents won't let me do The Twist as they say it causes heart attack. Is this true?

DEAR TWISTER: For those doing it, or those watching it?

DEAR ABBY: I read in a horoscope magazine that people who are born under different signs don't get along with each other. I think that's the trouble with my mother and me. She is very bossy and crabby and is always asking me a million questions. She complains a lot that she does not feel good, but I'm sure it's just an act she puts on to get sympathy. She is more strict with me than any of my friends' mothers are with them. She forces me to go to Sunday school and take piano lessons. I am 14 and am treated like a baby. Is what the horoscope magazine said true? And what does the future hold for me?

FOURTEEN: DEAR FOURTEEN: Since you are old enough to read, may I suggest a very good book? The Bible. I don't know what the future holds for you, but it will hold much more if you will honor your mother.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "OLD ENOUGH TO VOTE": And you are also old enough to know better. Leave him alone. He's still married.

IN STEP WITH STYLE

Georgettes and Silks Give Ultra-Feminine Look

By NONA DAMASKE

NEW YORK—As the fashion week draws to a close, the pattern for spring and summer continues to point toward a more feminine contour with silks, soft chiffons and marquisettes leading the way for wear around-the-clock.

Airborne chiffons and gauzes, marquisettes and dappled prints

...with boleros, capelets and skirts that float and flutter swept down the long runway day after day amid bursts of applause from the audience.

Guy Dourvier, who designed the Christian Dior-New York collection, kept his clothes clean in line. High-bosomed and in-curling in a belted, princess line, with gradual width at the hem, this unbroken line is as smooth and polished as a satchel blade and as narrow and tapered in profile.

Christian Dior-New York also present millinery, men's and women's hosiery, jewelry, men's ties, men's sport shirts and women's shoes. New innovation is a collection of Diorette dresses for little girls, designed in Paris by Marc Bohan.

The Ship-and-Shore Mouse company hosted all the editors to "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." This hilarious play is Broadway's top musical, and Rudy Vallee, who plays the part of a top executive, informed us that we were really lucky gals. He had just been able to find four seats for Charles Revlon, president of Revlon, Inc., at a cost of $650. Robert Morse plays the youth who is climbing the ladder of big-time business. He is 30 years old, but looks as if he were pushing 19. Small and compact, with a boyish shock of unruffled light-brown hair, he is the talk of New York. Time Magazine recently said, "Morse seems to have been formed by a head-on collision between Mickey Rooney and John Fitzgerald Kennedy."

Ship and Shore's spring and summer blouse collection is as fresh and crisp as a spring daisy. Keynote of the collection was the absence of sleeves. My favorite was a long overblouse of white cotton covered with one-dimensional fish. Forecast for hot summer days on the patio or at the beach is a knee-length, brightly-striped jersey sleeveless shirt.

Groups 'Marry' at First Meeting

A mock "marriage ceremony" was from in which the Woman's Missionary Society and the Woman's Auxiliary of Metropolitan United Church merged in the new United Church Women's group.

"Vows" were read by Mrs. C. B. Jameson, newly-elected president. A reception was held in Pendray Hall and more than 200 guests were received by past presidents, Mrs. J. Boorman and Mrs. J. G. Howes. Refreshments were served.

Humorously-toned toast given by Mrs. F. E. H. James stated that, "rarely such an elderly couple, one over a 100 years old and the other 84, is recipient of a wedding toast. More rare still, is the opportunity of the offspring to be present."

Rev. E. Laura Butler outlined work done by the provisional committee during the past six months.

Serving with Mrs. Jameson were Mr. O. H. Lamont, Mrs. R. G. Aitken and Mrs. F. Mack, vice-presidents; Mrs. Boorman and Mrs. Howes, past presidents; Mrs. R. Loch-head, recording secretary; Mrs. H. Bird, correspondence, and Mrs. A. E. Acres, treasurer.

Chairman of standing committees are: Christian citizenship and social action, Mrs. H. O. English; community friendship and visiting, Mrs. H. L. Kjer; co-operation in Christian and missionary education, Miss Gladys Beall; finance, Mrs. Ivan Green; literature and communications, Miss Grace Bedford; membership, Mrs. G. A. R. ## WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You can lose 20 pounds in eight weeks if you follow the Marathon. If you would like the Marathon booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Joseph Lowman in care of this newspaper. The exercise pictured here involves rolling from side to side to reduce the hips.

For many women my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon is as much a sign of the new year as a robin is of spring. Each year they take this time to recondition their figures by following the Marathon routines.

So, welcome on board repeaters! Welcome, also, are the newcomers to the fun! Every year more than 100,000 women join this program to see how much they can improve themselves in eight weeks. The majority wish to lose weight, although others want to lose in inches only, or to improve the condition of the skin or hair. Some want to improve their health generally, or to rid themselves of stiff joints or other annoying conditions.

Women are so busy caring for and thinking of their families that they very often neglect themselves. Why not concentrate on YOU for just this next eight weeks, any

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

Heads Group—Mrs. E. Hopwood was installed as president of Princess Alexandra Lodge No. 18, Daughters of England, at recent meeting. Mrs. E. Headdy, district deputy, installed the new officers, assisted by Mrs. A. Edmonds and officers of Lodge Primrose No. 32. Also installed were: Mrs. M. Porter, past president; Mrs. D. Davies, vice-president; Mrs. A. McVie, secretary; Mrs. M. Wright, treasurer; Mrs. M. Barnes, recording secretary; Mrs. F. Howe, chaplain; Mrs. A. Hornsby, first guide; Mrs. E. Wilson, second; Mrs. M. Mitchell, third; Mrs. F. Ryall, fourth; Mrs. F. Smith, inside guard; Mrs. M. Townshend, outer guard and trustees, Mrs. I. Shingleton, Mrs. M. Porter and Mrs. G. Baker. Retiring officers received gifts. Tea was served.

Picture Loan—It was reported at recent meeting of the Women's Committee to the Greater Victoria Art Gallery that 82 pictures had been rented under the picture loan project and one sold. Teachers will guide gallery visitors every Thursday at 2:30 p.m. and the library-and-tea room will be open on those days. Plans were discussed for a rummage sale and treasure auction to be held Feb. 2.

New Member—Mrs. T. B. Thomas-Peter was welcomed as a new member at meeting of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, IODE, held in the Fifth Street home of Mrs. W. R. Roskelley. Mrs. G. C. Baker presided and Mrs. J. L. Gates was appointed convener of the annual meeting. Mrs. Roskelley read letters of thanks from chapter's adopted schools for books and gifts sent during the holidays. Mrs. W. E. Colley reported nursery bags, socks and layettes sent to Korea and flowers placed in the Veterans' Hospital.

Here are a few more hints to help you slim down. Keep a pad in the kitchen and in your pocketbook so that you can keep track of your calorie intake.

Use herbs in cooking for seasoning rather than heavy cream sauces. Boil, bake or broil rather than fry foods. Frying zooms the calorie count.

If you like scrambled eggs, cook them in a double boiler. Make up your mind that you will stay with Marathon for eight weeks. A week passes so rapidly that eight will whizz by before you know it. If you would like to lose 20 pounds in eight weeks, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

CAC Pinpoints New Regulations Of Food and Drug Directorates

In its January bulletin, No. 113, the Consumers' Association of Canada draws attention to the following regulations concerning the work of the Food and Drug Directorates. These were published in the Canada Gazette, Part II, of October 25, 1961.

The amendments are as follows:

1. Set up a standard for (naming the flavor) Dairy Drink.
2. Set up standards for ice milk and ice milk mix.
3. State more clearly how the names of various oil ingredients shall appear on the labels of "salad" and "table" oils.
4. Make additions and changes in pesticide tolerances.
5. Require that mandatory statements for drugs and cosmetics be clearly and prominently displayed on the labels and be readily discernible to the purchaser or consumer under customary conditions of purchase and use.
6. Stipulate conditions which antibiotic preparations recommended for the treatment of lactating cattle must meet, and the statements the labels of these preparations must carry.
7. Reduce the maximum recommended daily dosage of Vitamin D in cod liver oil from 2,000 to 1,000 International Units per day; continue the recommended daily dose of Vitamin A which shall not exceed 10,000 International Units.

8. Provide that no person shall sell cosmetics containing sex hormones unless they have been proven to be free from systemic effects. Formerly, this applied only to estrogenic hormones.

Habits Work For You

Habits are formed by doing the same things every day in much the same way. And they can work for health and good looks or against them.

Coffee drinking can be delightful and therefore an enjoyable habit. But if you overdo it, it becomes a bad habit.

Slumping is a bad habit and, if kept up, will give you a dowager's hump and other figure lumps.

Sitting up straight is easy and produces a better figure immediately. Obviously, this is a good habit, one that works for you. When you say you haven't the necessary time to exercise, remember this:

Good habits can help you standing erect, breathing deeply, walking rather than riding, touching your toes 30 times daily are all good habits that help you keep a lithe body.

And yet none takes any great amount of time. Try them and see.

If this sets you to thinking conscientiously about your habits and substituting good for bad you've made a valuable discovery.

WELL, DO SOMETHING

Some women are constantly apologizing for their appearance. They'll tell you that their hair needs doing or they've put on five pounds or that they're wearing the wrong shade of lipstick. They gain no admirers by such tactics.

If you're conscious that something about your appearance is all wrong, don't apologize. Do something about it. Actually, it's much like keeping house. We must do over and over certain things about our appearance in order to look well. If we slip up on just one, we become conscious that all is not well and, the next thing we know, we're making the mistake of telling someone about it.

Be severe with yourself in the matter of personal grooming. If you've ever wondered how some women seem always to have that bandbox look, stop wondering. They pay attention to all of those small details that count.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Day after day, false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little PASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, soapy, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTEETH today at drug counters everywhere.

DUNCAN (CP) — Charles Green, who jumped a ship in Montreal seven years ago, has obtained another reprieve on a deportation order.

Mr. Green, 41, has been served with a deportation order each year since 1958, when officials of the immigration department found out about his illegal entry.

Each time a lawyer has been successful in applying for a reprieve. The latest order was handed him when he was employed as a Santa Claus in a department store here a few days before Christmas.

NO BURDEN

"It can go on indefinitely," he said Saturday. "They would have the legal right to kick me out but I have been looking after myself and never become a burden of the government."

He has been working at a Canadian Legion branch here for the past year.

Mr. Green has to report to immigration authorities in Victoria once a month. He said if he is deported he would probably go to South America, where he would "settle and find peace."

CO-OP PACKING PLANT SUGGESTED FOR B.C.

NANAIMO—A co-operative packing plant might be the only answer to the problem of "rapidly disappearing" B.C. packing plants, it was suggested here Saturday at a meeting of District A, Farmers' Institute.

Growers of pigs and sheep said they soon will have difficulty in finding a ready market for animals ready for killing, and that a co-operative would be the only solution.

A Vancouver Island survey made a few years ago by Kenneth Kiernan, then minister of agriculture, was cited as having proved that there was far too small a volume of business on the island for a plant.

Victor Virgin, a director of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, said the BCFA is keeping a careful watch on the situation.

Discussion on the lack of government meat inspection service ended when directors said present regulations on the island are proving satisfactory, and that any change, "such as some proposed by Victoria aldermen," were not practicable.

ISLAND DIGEST

Victoria Daily Times MONDAY, JAN. 15, 1962 25

V.I. ROUNDUP

Falling Limb Kills Boy Instantly

DUNCAN—A limb falling from a tree Saturday struck eight-year-old Steven McDowell during a family wood-cutting expedition, and killed him instantly.

He and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael McDowell, Wilson Avenue, and three brothers, Peter, nine; Robbie, seven; and Douglas, four, were working in bush off Maple Bay Road when the tragedy occurred.

Such accidents are far from uncommon. Falling limbs are referred to by loggers with grim humor as "widow makers" because of the heavy toll they have taken among fallers and other woodsmen.

Duncan coroner Dr. J. S. Goodbrand has yet to make a decision on the holding of an inquest or inquiry. Police said if a hearing is held it likely will be on Tuesday evening.

DUNCAN—Farmers in the Cowichan Valley, unlike their colleagues in the Fraser Valley on the mainland, appear to be satisfied with the new provincial assessment formula.

Opposition leader Robert Strachan asked directors of Cowichan Agricultural Society at their regular meeting for opinions of the formula, and heard no complaints.

It was reported that farm assessments had remained much the same as those of 1961 in the Cowichan area.

Members reported there are 9,000 breeding ewes on Vancouver Island south of Qualicum, and that 11,000 lambs are sold each year for about $200,000.

In addition there are 8,000

Indian sweaters made and sold each year on the island.

The meeting was the tenth annual January session attended by Mr. Strachan, MLA for Cowichan-Newcastle.

DUNCAN — Cowichan Fish and Game Association will remind Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle Westwood of its request for public access to Cowichan River.

Members noted at their regular meeting there had been no word from the minister regarding their proposal for a footpath along the river bank "to serve the public in perpetuity."

"There are too many people getting killed on our roads today," the association wrote to the minister. "Let us give people an opportunity to pull off those highways and enjoy our natural heritage."

NANAIMO — A junior fire-arm safety course will be started here Feb. 1 under sponsorship of Nanaimo Fish and Game Protective Association.

First course will be limited to 50, and other classes will start at the close of the first course. Chairman of the committee in charge is Vern Hoff.

COLWOOD — Trustee John S. Williams, member of Sooke District 63 School Board for 11 years and chairman for three years, has been chosen by trustees as new chairman of the board.

He succeeds Ronald J. Weir. Mr. Williams announced in December that he would not stand for re-election to the board, but when there were only two nominees for four positions on the board, he was reappointed by the education minister.

Island Riders Get Awards In Vancouver

Jean Dunbar, Vancouver Island's leading junior horsewoman, became the only rider in B.C. to claim a fifth year equitation pin at an awards dinner in Vancouver Saturday.

Four islanders were among the 80 guests attending zone five banquet of Canadian Horse Shows Association at the Astor Hotel.

Miss Dunbar, now in first year at Victoria College, qualified for her 1961 pin in her final year as a junior horsewoman.

Other local winners of zone championships were as follows:

Western Pleasure Horse — Remus, owned and ridden by David Batty.
Junior — Jamming — Trader, owned and ridden by Jean Dunbar.
Open Working Hunter — Seven Up, owned and ridden by Jean Dunbar.
Reserve Open Hunter — Seven Up, owned and ridden by Jean Dunbar.
Second Year Equitation — Pina — English saddle, Pat Donaldson, Madeline Cuppage, Karen Burdon, Valerie Smith; stock saddle, David Batty, Roy Pasmore.

NATIONAL LEADER of New Democratic Party, Tommy Douglas, is scheduled to speak at party's federal nominating convention for Comox-Alberni in Parksville, Jan. 29. It is expected three, and perhaps four, candidates will seek nomination. Meeting will follow founding convention of NDP in Comox Valley at Courtenay Saturday night, when Robert Strachan, B.C. opposition leader, and Tom Berger, NDP provincial president, will be chief speakers. National leader of Social Credit party, Robert N. Thompson, will address party banquet in Courtenay Wednesday.

NEW COMBAT uniform for Canadian soldiers, modelled above, is designed for all-weather field use. Canadian-designed and developed, it is expected to be on issue by 1963. It comprises a combat jacket, shirt-coat, trousers and eight-inch leather boots. (CP Photo.)

Too Many Hunters Home Empty-Handed

NANAIMO (CP) — Two government biologists say not nearly enough deer are being harvested on Vancouver Island to maintain a proper balance.

John Bandy, regional biologist of the fish and game branch, and Don Robinson, branch provincial biologist, told a meeting Friday night the number of deer killed annually has increased but still the total is not high enough.

Mr. Bandy said only 10 per cent or less of the deer population falls to hunters. The figure should be 33 per cent. We are not anywhere near harvesting the animals of natural reproduction."

LONGER SEASON

Both men advocated a longer season for antlerless deer. They said the ideal ratio would be 20 per cent bucks, 40 per cent does, and 40 per cent fawns.

Mr. Robinson said 40 per cent of hunters on Vancouver Island return home empty handed. Only 12 per cent get their three-deer limit.

25 Enrol In Soil Study

DUNCAN — "Operation Soils," a new project suggested by agricultural extension officials of the provincial agriculture department, will begin here at the end of this month with 25 farmers enrolled for a two-year course.

It will be sponsored by Cowichan Agricultural Society and feature study of soil fertility and soil construction, classifications and types.

There will be two-hour lectures each month through the winter, and an all-day field trip once a month during the summer.

IN VANCOUVER

Puntledge Inquiry Set to Open Feb. 1

VANCOUVER (CP) — A royal commission appointed to investigate the conservation of fish on the Puntledge River near Courtenay will hold its first public meeting in Vancouver Feb. 1.

B.C. Public Utilities Commission chairman Dr. Henry Angus is the sole commissioner named by the provincial government to investigate the problem of hydro dams and fish.

Purpose of the opening session will be to discuss scope of the inquiry and procedures.

DEADLINE SET

Those wishing to appear must notify the commissioner not later than Jan. 25.

Subsequent meetings will be held both in Vancouver and on Vancouver Island.

Dr. Angus has been asked to examine conservation on the river in relation to the cost of required protective measures and operation of the B.C. Power Commission's Puntledge River power plant.

$720,000 COST

The federal department of fisheries has proposed fish conservation measures on the power commission's dams that would cost about $720,000.

Ex-V.I. Cleric Dies in Toronto

Rev. James Allister Donnell, 88, retired United Church minister and former Presbyterian, who served B.C. churches for 17 years, died Sunday in Toronto.

From 1935 to 1942 he was at Nelson, and from that time until his retirement in 1952 he was at Prince Rupert, Halliburton Street United Church in Nanaimo, and Chemainus United Church. He had lived in Toronto since his retirement.

Egg prices in Victoria and district dropped two cents "across the board" today. Cause was given as a small surplus on Vancouver Island, brought about by a post-holiday season drop in demand, and a drop in the price of prairie eggs.

COLLEGE YOUTH SLAIN IN GHOST HUNT PRANK

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—An excursion to a supposedly haunted house Sunday night ended in the shotgun slaying of a University of Cincinnati freshman.

Capt. Jess Dennis of the sheriff's office said Harry Demoret, 82, who lived alone in the 150-year-old house, admitted firing the two shotgun charges that killed Jack W. Langhorst, 18, of Cincinnati.

Dennis said Demoret told them he opened fire when the youth "batted through the door" and entered the house.

Butler county officials did not file charges against Demoret because, they said, evidence indicated young Langhorst forced his way into Demoret's home.

Langhorst was in a party of 10 youths who went to the house. Langhorst's friends told deputies they met some girls at a drive-in who told them about "haunted houses" in the vicinity. They decided to visit one.

INVASION SPEARHEAD?

Dutch Repel Indonesian Landing Craft

HOLLANDIA (AP)—An Indonesian torpedo boat was sunk today by Dutch patrol ships inside West New Guinea's territorial waters on the south coast, the Dutch Navy said today.

At least three Indonesian motor torpedo boats were intercepted and a second may have been sunk, the navy said. The other intruder fled.

The Dutch news agency quoted the Navy commander in Hollandia as saying it was thought the Indonesian warcraft might have been the vanguard for an invasion. A Dutch defence ministry spokesman at The Hague refused to comment when asked whether the clash meant an actual state of war between The Netherlands and Indonesia.

The navy spokesman said the Indonesian torpedo boats were intercepted near Etna Bay. This is a region within easy range of some of the eastern Indonesian islands believed used as a base for the infiltrators.

The agency quoted navy Capt. R. M. Elberts, chief of staff of The Netherlands navy in the territory as saying the Indonesian motor boats were "presumably of Russian or East German make."

Patrols Skirmish With Bands

BLAK (AP)—An official in this Dutch New Guinea centre said today small bands of Indonesians have attempted to infiltrate West New Guinea and that some had been killed in skirmishes with Dutch patrols.

Hendrik Assink, district officer of Blak, estimated the total number of invaders at "perhaps a couple of hundred." Their purpose, he said, is to stir up unrest among the Papuan population.

The Indonesian bands "have been a total loss as they have not been supported with supplies," he added.

"They cannot live in the jungle so they come to villages and the people tell us right away."

Craft Tracked Down With Radar

The agency correspondent in a message telephoned directly to The Hague said the Dutch warships and aircraft tracked down the Indonesian craft with radar.

The encounter was the first recorded outbreak of fighting between the Dutch and Indonesian armed forces since Indonesia's started threatening to "liberate" the territory.

A defence ministry spokesman said details of the incident were lacking, including the strength of the Indonesian vessels.

In Jakarta, Indonesia, earlier today newspapers reported that five divisions of volunteers were assembled in the South Celebes—President Sukarno's "jumping-off spot" for his pledged attempt to grab West New Guinea from Dutch control.

Exports to Canada Boosted by Britain

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Express says Britain's exports to Canada are hitting record levels.

The right-wing newspaper,

which has been fighting British moves to join the European Common Market, says figures due later this month "may show they were worth more than £220,000,000 ($46,800,000) last year."

The Express adds that British figures for the first 11 months indicate Canada spent £207,000,000 ($608,580,000) in the British market—up three per cent from the corresponding figure of £198,000,000 ($582,120,000).

"The long-term possibilities in the Canadian market are almost limitless, and present a tremendous contrast with opportunities in the Common Market countries," the newspaper says.

NEEDS MONEY TO START BUSINESS

Hero's Widow Wants to Sell VC

BIRSTALL, England (UPI)—A nationwide controversy flared today over a widow's determination to sell her war hero husband's Victoria Cross to raise badly-needed cash. The bronze medal was won by her husband as an 18-year-old member of the Royal Air Force in 1940.

Mrs. Janet Hannah, 40, whose husband died in 1947 of tuberculosis, said she needed the money to start a hairdressing business and to bring more security to her family.

She said she has received one offer of 1,000 pounds ($2,800).

Officials of the RAF Association said they would try to talk her out of selling the medal. They hoped to come up with an offer of financial aid that would make selling it unnecessary.

But Sunday night Mrs. Hannah stood firm. Her 19-year-old married daughter, Mrs. Josephine Burditt said:

"She's had a tremendously hard fight bringing us up.

Now all she wants is security. She wants to make her own way now."

Mrs. Hannah who said she had the assent of her three daughters, declared: "Nothing has caused us more pain than the prospect of parting with his VC. But after 15 years of struggling to make ends meet, selling the medal is my only hope of raising money."

The dead husband's parents came out against the sale and so did the Leicestershire branch of the RAF Association. Hannah won the bravery medal when he put out a blaze with his bare hands in a bomber over Holland.

"Uncle Zeke's all for the centennial civic holiday plan. Figgers a hundred years without work'd be about right."

Talk o' th' Common Market seems t' git Ottawa uncommonly excited.

'AMERICA'S NEW SUPERMARKET'

LONDON (Reuters)—The Sunday Express says President Kennedy is taking steps which might turn the European Common Market into "America's new supermarket."

The Express says in an editorial: "Watch the brilliant dexterity of President Kennedy's performance over the Common Market. Watch—and wonder."

"In Ottawa his officials are telling Canadians: Beware the Common Market. If Britain becomes a member, you must protect yourselves by coming into customs union with the U.S.A. "And in Brussels? Ah, that is a different story. No warnings there."

"The president's officials have arranged for a huge slashing of tariffs on American goods coming into Europe. The effect could be to turn the Common Market into America's new supermarket."

(Times News Service) as we know, the meeting is not for the formal signature of any agreement."

He said he doubted a formal agreement could be signed because "this has to go back to GATT"—the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade organization in Geneva under whose auspices negotiations started.

Settlement of the market members' wrangle over agriculture policy opened the way for Britain's bid for membership in the group.

Reports on the market-U.S. agreement said the pact involved reductions of up to 20 per cent on many industrial products. Exactly which products would be covered was not known.

'Will Hurt Canada'

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian government officials took a gloomy view today of the European Common Market's adoption of a common agricultural policy.

"It's undoubtedly going to be more restrictive" for Canadian agricultural exports, a senior official commented.

The Common Market's big step, taken on the weekend after days of hard bargaining at Brussels, would affect exports of Canadian agricultural products to the six countries of the Common Market and also farm exports to Britain if Britain finally enters the big trading bloc.

DE GAULLE SUPPORTER MURDERED

ALGIERS (Reuters)—Two Europeans, including a top municipal official, were slain today in the western city of Oran as a wave of violence continued unabated in Algeria. (See story page 9.)

Victor Demare, Oran's mail and telecommunications director, was cut down by gunfire soon after military officials in Algiers said the first two weeks of 1962 were the bloodiest since the nationalist insurrection began more than seven years ago. Demare, known as a supporter of President de Gaulle, recently received threatening letters from the European extremist Secret Army Organization, police said.

SATURNA SLAYING

Widow In Mental Hospital

Mrs. Marian Money, widow of a Saturna Island man who was shot and killed Friday night in his home, was admitted to the provincial mental hospital at Essondale Sunday.

The frail and pretty 21-year-old mother was committed on a warrant sworn out by two doctors and a stipendiary magistrate.

Victim of the shooting, William Money, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Money of Saturna, was found by friends late Friday night when they called to take him to work at a building material plant on the island.

TWO WOUNDS

They found the body on his bed with two bullet wounds in the chest. There were two .38 calibre bullets on the floor, and a .38 calibre pistol belonging to the victim was found in a dresser drawer. It was sent to the RCMP laboratory in Regina for examination.

The young widow, whose health has been poor since the loss of the couple's first child 18 months ago, was in the same bed in a dazed and incoherent condition. Their five-month-old son Gordon was safe in his crib in the same room.

Friends called the victim's father, island constable and justice of the peace, and notified RCMP at Ganges, on Salt Spring Island.

INQUEST ADJOURNED

An inquest opened Saturday morning under direction of Coroner Miles Acheson of Ganges, then was adjourned to Jan. 27.

The five-room bungalow in which the shooting took place is at Lyall Harbor.

Body of Mr. Money was brought to Victoria for an autopsy, and Mrs. Money was taken to Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital at Ganges.

Anglican funeral service will be held Tuesday at Saturna Island Community Hall with Rt. Rev. Michael E. Coleman of North Pender Island officiating, and interment will be in Saturna Island cemetery.

ANTOINE GIZENGA
his army gone

Gizenga Virtual Prisoner

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Antoine Gizenga was a virtual prisoner of United Nations and Congolese forces encircling his residence in Stanleyville today.

The government announced the pro-Communist deputy premier had agreed to end his self-imposed exile and return to Leopoldville after his personal bodyguard surrendered Sunday to Congolese troops.

Nearly 300 of Gizenga's gendarmes—his military army in Stanleyville—have been disarmed and taken prisoner by central government troops under Gen. Victor Lundula, the UN reported.

A tight cordon of UN Ethiopian soldiers and Lundula's men surrounded Gizenga's mansion, keeping him isolated until a decision is reached on what to do with him.

Gizenga's fate seemed to rest with parliament and the cabinet of Premier Cyrille Adoula, both hostile to the one-time Patrice Lumumba's political heir and impatient at his continued defiance of the central government.

The UN announced meanwhile that 21 UN Nigerian soldiers were surprised and captured in Luluabourg by the small remaining forces of South Kasai province's Albert Kalonji, separatist leader now under arrest by the central government.

The Nigerian brigade major promptly flew to the South Kasai capital of Bakwanga to obtain the release of his men. The UN said the local authorities handed back the troops and apologized for the incident.

"The nature of those discussions will become evident in the reasonably near future," he added.

Townspeople Flee Australia Bush Fire

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Two small Australian towns near here were evacuated today as a windswept bush fire raged out of control in mountains north and east of Melbourne.

Women and children were evacuated from Olinda, with about 1,400 residents. Flames covered three quarters of Mount Dandenong, east of here, and residents of the nearby town of Kalorama, with 400 population, were being led to safety.

The body of a man was found meantime by firefighters. It was the first death attributed to the blaze.

Word leaked from the tight-lipped Royal Navy that about 60 pounds worth of liquor had disappeared from the wardroom of HMS Topaze. The wardroom steward was rumored to be the guilty party, but the navy took care of punishment with no undue publicity.

Sailing of the steamer Otter for the Fraser was delayed due to freezing conditions at the river mouth.

'SHOOK ME LIKE DOG WITH BONE'

Shark Mauls Skindiver, Beaten Off With Spear

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A brawny, six-foot skindiver told his wife "I probably won't be back... I figure a shark will get me."

Floyd Pair Jr., 29, of Sacramento, Calif., said it was a joke. Before Sunday was over he almost had foretold his fate.

Pair came to San Francisco for a day's diving near the Farallon Islands, 25 miles west of the Golden Gate. He was one of a party of some 100 divers who chartered four boats for the purpose.

At about 11 a.m. Pair went over the side of the boat.

"I went down to about 40 feet," Pair recounted. "I chased a fish, lost him... decided to surface."

"Then it hit me, just as I surfaced... at first I thought it was a seal... but a seal doesn't have a mouth that big. It was brown, and every inch of 14 feet long. It hit me from the right side and started shaking me like a dog plays with a bone."

"I saw that it was a shark. I remember thinking first that it didn't hurt. Then I half-remembered something I had read by a German deep-sea expert, Hans Hass."

"Hass said to make a lot of noise and hit an attacking shark in the face."

"I spit out my breathing mouthpiece, began yelling 'Shark! Shark!' and at the same time I began jabbing at the shark's snout with my spear."

"He let loose of me and took off."

Two other divers helped Pair back to the boat. A helicopter was called and took Pair to hospital.

"On the boat they wanted to cut off my suit and look at the wounds," Pair said. "But I felt I needed that tight suit to keep whatever blood I still had in me."

Doctors described Pair's wounds as serious but not crippling. He suffered gaping leg wounds and a deep bite into must have weighed 1,000 pounds.

Husband Had Right To Stole

SASKATOON (CP)—A jury of 11 men and one woman has acquitted Gerald Gannon of Calgary of theft of his wife's mink stole, mouton jacket and overnight bag.

The 36-year-old Calgary oilman was charged April 4, 1960, following a complaint by his wife, Mrs. Barbara Gannon of Penticton, B.C., formerly of Saskatoon.

A court of Queen's Bench jury deliberated 65 minutes Friday night before returning the verdict of not guilty.

The jury found that although the couple had separated, Gannon had "right" to the mink stole because it was his gift to her while they lived as man and wife.

Admitting he entered the house April 4, 1960, through the unlocked front door, Gannon added he was looking for his wife. He then took the stole, saw the barbiturates in the bag and took them so she wouldn't use them, he said.

... presents brief

Medical Insurance Plan Proposed by Premier

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Duff Roblin today called for federal help to institute a comprehensive plan of pre-paid medical insurance for Manitoba residents.

In a brief to the royal commission on health services, which opened five days of public hearings here, Mr. Roblin recommended that Ottawa provide per capita grants to make up the difference between costs of the proposed scheme and premium revenues.

The plan should be "on a voluntary basis." He suggested it might be carried out by the doctor-sponsored Manitoba Medical Service, which now provides health insurance for 400,000 of Manitoba's 900,000 citizens.

There were many people in Manitoba who found present insurance schemes beyond their means — "and among these we include those persons who are not and cannot be classified as indigents, but for whom coverage is essential."

Consideration should be given to writing a deterrent feature—provision for specified charges for certain medicines and services—into the proposed scheme.

"Such a deterrent would have the dual purpose of assuring a minimum revenue to the scheme and would create a necessary sense of responsibility in the users."

STUDY PRESENT PLANS

The commission should investigate the operation and financing of present plans before embarking on any expanded programs entailing additional financial responsibility for the province.

In his submission Mr. Roblin also:

1. Called for a reassessment of federal grants for hospital construction. These had been limited to $2,000 per bed when a new hospital was built. Over the years have exceeded $10,000.

2. Charged that the federal government has not paid its proper share in the development of facilities to treat certain ailments outside of hospitals at less cost. Chronic care and geriatric treatment were two fields where studies indicated action might be taken.

3. Called for an amendment to the National Housing Act to provide help for charitable organizations in the construction of nursing homes.

4. Said the federal government should pay 50 per cent of depreciation, interest and administration charges under the hospital services plan.

5. Said public health service grants should be increased to reflect increased costs.

New Tax for Health Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, says he envisages a national health scheme financed by a new tax and patterned after the plan he introduced in Saskatchewan.

He spoke of the plan first in London, Ont., Friday night, when he told a medical society meeting that a comprehensive national health scheme should be introduced and financed by a new tax.

Mr. Douglas, attending a luncheon in Ottawa in honor of former CCF leader M. J.

Coldwell, said in an interview Saturday that because of the division of constitutional jurisdiction between federal and provincial governments, the federal government could only encourage the provinces to go directly into the field of health insurance.

But he said he would like to have Saskatchewan's health plan adopted by all provinces. A federal government under the New Democratic Party would encourage the provinces to move in that direction by financial assistance.

The financial aid, he added,

would be similar to the contributions the federal government now makes to hospital construction and other health grants made on a shared-cost basis with the provinces.

In his London speech, Mr. Douglas said the plan should provide universal hospital and medical insurance, and "ensure that the family physician remains the bulwark of modern medicine."

SAFE CRACKING

We think it took place after that," he said.

EASY TO HIDE

"The building was last checked by our patrol at 5:15 — but of course it is possible for a burglar to lie low very easily in the maze of alleys in Chinatown."

The patrol's German shepherd tracking dog, Brett, was taken to the scene of the robbery this morning.

The dog picked up a scent from the chopping block in the butcher's shop—where a footprint was found—and followed it to the safe.

SCENT LOST

It led officers out the rear of the building but lost the scent in the aroma of various meats being cooked nearby.

The last safecracking of any note in the city occurred at the office of Household Finance Co., 1218 Douglas, Nov. 7, 1960. The haul that time was under $2,000.

Another Gun Battle

MONTREAL (CP)—Police sought one suspect today in connection with the daylight holdup of a suburban restaurant by three armed men that sparked the third gun battle in 11 days between the law and the underworld of Canada's largest city. The running gun battle and 40-mile chase through several south-shore suburbs ended Sunday after a policeman and suspect were wounded, not critically.

"But I'm still not satisfied," said Mrs. B. F. McCloskey, a branch spokesman who plans to investigate two other complaints.

FARMERS TO MEET

VANCOUVER—B.C. Lower Mainland farmers will hold two more meetings protesting higher land assessments before they take their grievances to the provincial government.

The first meeting will be in Abbotsford Friday and the second in Delta Jan. 23.

The complaints will be taken to Victoria after the legislature opens later this month.

Richmond farmers voted Saturday to retain an assessment to fight the increased evaluations before court of revision next month. The amount will be set later.

Guilty Plea In Slayings; Life Sentence

CALGARY (CP)—Norman Marshall Campbell, 41, of Banff, Alta., today was sentenced to life when he pleaded guilty in Supreme Court in Calgary on two charges of non-capital murder in the stabbing deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Treend of Calgary last Aug. 8.

Campbell's plea caused a stir in the courtroom. The former school teacher was arrested last Aug. 16 in Penticton, B.C., and charged with capital murder. When court convened today crown counsel announced that the accused had been rearraigned on new indictments of non-capital murder.

The entire proceedings took less than 30 minutes.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Treend were found in the North Hill district home by relatives after the couple had not been heard from for three days.

that the 58-acre cemetery planned by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Vancouver would also reduce the values of their homes.

COMPLAINTS 'GROUNDLESS'

VANCOUVER—The federal food and drug inspection bureau here has investigated 24 complaints about tainted or uninspected meat and found them groundless. Larry Devlin, superintendent of the bureau's B.C. inspection service, said Saturday there is very little meat unfit for human consumption on sale in the province.

"There's a difference between unfit and uninspected meat," he said. "There are lots of municipalities where uninspected meat is sold. Victoria is the best example."

The B.C. branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers checked eight similar complaints and found nothing wrong.

"But I'm still not satisfied," said Mrs. B. F. McCloskey, a branch spokesman who plans to investigate two other complaints.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Terror Bombings Pushed By Freedomite 'Prophet'

(Compiled from CP)

NELSON — A Freedomite Doukhobor charged with taking part in a bombing testified Saturday he was persuaded by a man he believed was a Doukhobor prophet to make statements saying he was involved in terrorist activities.

Fred Jmaeff, 37, charged with Alex Barisoff, 24, in the bombing of an Anglican Church at Wynndel, B.C., April 13, 1961, said Freedomite Mike Bayoff told him to make the statements.

He said Bayoff told him that Doukhobor problems could only be solved if members of the sect served jail terms. Bayoff, now serving a jail term for terrorist activities, said this was a Doukhobor prophesy, Jmaeff told the B.C. supreme court jury.

Statements by both accused describing the making of a dynamite bomb and how it was placed under the church were admitted as evidence Thursday and Friday over defence objections.

Jmaeff said an RCMP officer told him things would go better for him if he made the statements.

Police witnesses denied that any pressure was put on either of the accused to make statements and said no inducements were offered to them.

BOY KILLED

VANCOUVER—A five-year-old boy died Sunday when he was pinned beneath a car in a nearby Richmond ditch.

He was Arthur McCaffrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken McCaffrey of Richmond. Seven-year-old Michael, brother of the dead boy, suffered head wounds. Mrs. E. J. Knight, a passenger in the second car, suffered undetermined injuries.

More B.C. oil for B.C. ... coming up

Members of the crew of an Imperial rig drilling for oil in British Columbia.

Bringing you oil products at bargain prices is a big job. Right now, for example, Imperial is drilling 30 miles of hole at B.C.'s Boundary Lake oil field. Boundary Lake oil will travel 745 miles to Imperial's refinery near Vancouver, where it will be turned into products. And those products reach you at bargain prices. Take Esso gasoline, for example. On the average, it costs motorists throughout B.C. 6 1/2 cents per pound. Compared with other commodities in everyday use, you won't find a better bargain. Milk, for example, sells on the average for 9 1/2 cents a pound; soft drinks for 12 1/2 cents a pound; even distilled water costs more than gasoline. And of the 6 1/2 cents paid per pound for Esso gasoline, two cents is for federal and provincial taxes that bring you such things as social services and new highways. To bring you this bargain, Imperial has invested more than $80,000,000 in B.C. in the past ten years alone. Yet today, on the average, Imperial gets less for the Esso gasoline it sells than it did ten years ago...and Esso gasoline today is much more powerful than ten years ago.

MONTE ROBERTS

The board of directors of the Old Jokes Home wish to report on two applications for admittance to the Spoonerized Pun wing.

UNAPPROVED: The one about the Furies. You know, a scientist lands on the moon, and is making notes on the flora and fauna, when he notices a fauna looking animal. This animal is covered with fur and doesn't seem to have any arms or legs, and the scientist says, thinking out loud, I wonder what that animal is? "I'm a furry," replies the animal. "Thank you," says the scientist. "But what's that beside you, the animal all covered with fur except for a burned patch on his head?" "That," says the animal, "is a furry with a singe on top."

APPROVED: The one about the sewage disposal expert who killed his brain to medical science. You know the one; after his death, the doctors were deliriously happy to examine his brain.

It was their first chance to see a flitting man's thinker. COMMENT: Welcomed with open arms, because it qualifies on all counts; it is overworked, old, tired, capable of being told in either 10 minutes or 10 seconds, and a Spoonerized Pun in the purest sense.

REMINDER: The board of directors of the Old Jokes Home wish to remind the public that nominations for admittance should be addressed in care of M. Roberts, The Victoria Daily Times, Victoria, B.C., and should be pre-fumigated wherever possible.

'I AM A LOVER OF PEACE' SAYS SAANICH HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER

Story of Freedom Told by Former Czech Diplomat

By JOHN BASSETT
On a Monday morning in August, 1962, Dr. George Mares, Czechoslovakian consul-general to Canada, resigned his post at Ottawa and refused to return to his homeland.

Nine years later, on a September afternoon this same man conducted his first language class to students at Saanich's Claremont High School.

His story is one of sacrifice, readjustment, hardship and fortitude.

NO REGRETS

For the Mares family the price of this freedom was the loss of relatives, friends and all hope of financial benefit. Now the 53-year-old ex-diplomat says, simply: "I've never regretted my decision."

Seated in the living room of his rented Brentwood home, Dr. Mares talked quietly about his defection.

"I am a lover of peace," he said. "The Communist Korean policy was one I could not come to terms with, neither could I support the general Moscow alignment."

But deeper than these conflicts with state policy was the underlying desire that his three young daughters, then aged 13, 11 and eight, be allowed to grow and mature as their natures led them.

SAW U.S.

"For these reasons I resigned," Dr. Mares said.

He loaded his family and the few possessions in a trailer and headed for the west coast. The trip was good. "We saw a lot of the U.S. and Mexico before arriving to settle in Victoria."

But things here were not good at this point. Dr. Mares, a lawyer in Czechoslovakia and a diplomat able to converse in seven languages, could not find a job.

Finally he found a clerical position offering little opportunity and less pay. The family left for Nanaimo after a year.

At first the situation was much the same, a growing family and little money to feed it. The girls, formerly accustomed to new and fashionable clothes, made do with hand-me-downs, and Mrs. Mares, raised in a family used to chauffeurs and butlers, learned quickly the limits of a narrow budget.

TRANSLATOR

"Then all of a sudden I got very lucky," said Dr. Mares. "The Pacific Biological Station in Nanaimo needed a translator. I applied and got the job. We were very happy."

But in 1955 the federal government decided to do the translating in Ottawa, and once again the ex-diplomat was out of a job.

The next five years proved to be the most trying period in the life of the family, brightened only by the marriage of eldest daughter Helena to Vancouver reporter Peter Feltham, and the proud day in 1958 when the Mares became full-fledged Canadian citizens.

Dr. Mares now went from job to job. There were long periods between some of them. He sold insurance for a time, real estate at one point, and for a short period was a hearing aid salesman. "It was not too good for a long time."

During these years Dr. and Mrs. Mares watched proudly as daughters Markyta and Hanna, 21 and 18 respectively, grew into beautiful young women.

"It was, and still is, a great delight to me to watch my daughters express themselves as they wish, to be able to make up their own minds in a country that allows them to do so," said Dr. Mares.

LEAD ROLE

Helena is now a mother of three little girls of her own, and Markyta, an attractive blonde, is studying theatre in New York after a successful lead role in her first Toronto play last fall.

Hanna, the ashen haired "baby" of the Mares girls, is a talented young artist with a flair for portrait sketching. She attends school at Claremont and her father teaches her three classes a week.

"In 1960, after much soul-searching, I decided to become a teacher," said Dr. Mares. "I realized it was the natural profession for me. Here I was, in a new country, young all over again actually, so I thought I could learn with my students as well as teach them."

A year at UBC and Dr. Mares had his certificate, and in 1961 he applied to teach German and French at Claremont. He was accepted.

Going daily from his home to school and back again the new teacher has had much time to think.

"This is a good country," he says, "with good people who let you follow your own path. I really believe my daughters, although they will never know it now, are living much happier lives than would have been possible otherwise."

"As for me, my happiness comes with their happiness and also with the joy of teaching."

CHECKOFF APPEAL UNDER WAY

Legislation Aimed At NDP, Court Told

Labor legislation passed by the B.C. government last winter was designed to "destroy the New Democratic Party at its inception," the B.C. Court of Appeal was told today.

"No provincial legislature has the constitutional power to interfere with the growth and development of any political party," said Vancouver lawyer T. R. Berger at the start of an appeal expected to last three days.

Mr. Berger is representing the 160-member local of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' Union in a further bid to have a contentious clause in the B.C. government's Labor Relations Act (Bill 42) declared invalid.

The clause requires union officials to sign a statutory declaration that dues collected by checkoff will not be used for political purposes.

CHECKOFF STOPPED

As a result, the Imperial Oil Co. in Vancouver stopped the checkoff last April 15 because the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' Union had failed to file such a declaration.

Mr. Berger told the appeal judges their decision would be "vital" to the future of trade unions in Canada, since millions of dollars worth of dues are collected every year by payroll deduction.

He said the Canadian parliamentary system is founded on the existence of political parties and any law which "impedes the form, growth and development" of a political party is unconstitutional.

UNION LOST

Mr. Berger challenged judgment of Mr. Justice Norman Whittaker in Supreme Court last Aug. 25 when he ruled against the union and dismissed the action with costs.

Mr. Justice Whittaker found that the disputed clause was not beyond the powers of the legislature and declared it protected the "fundamental rights of the individual" to support the political party of his choice.

Mr. Berger stated that, since the Supreme Court hearing, the New Democratic Party had been founded (on Aug. 4, 1961) and was designed to contest provincial and federal elections.

O'NEAL CALLED

He wished to introduce further evidence relating to the party, and E. P. O'Neal, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor, might be called as a witness.

Mr. Berger also challenged the judgment of Mr. Justice Whittaker when he said: "There is nothing to prevent union members contributing as private citizens to the party of their choice."

The appeal is being heard by Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay, Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran, Mr. Justice H. W. Davey, Mr. Justice F. A. Sheppard and Mr. Justice C. W. Tysoe.

It is opposed by T. E. H. Ellis, QC, representing the Imperial Oil Co., and by Douglas McK. Brown, QC, and A. Fouks for the B.C. attorney-general's department.

Home-School Group To Meet Wednesday

The Glen Lake Home and School Association will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Elementary School.

Holiday Asked Aug. 2 For Official Birthday

First in 22 Years If Council Approves

Victorians may get a public holiday Aug. 2, anniversary of the city's incorporation 100 years ago.

Proposal by the centennial committee "will be considered by city council," Mayor R. B. Wilson said today. Meanwhile, it was learned that the centennial committee may get Kinsmen Bingo organizer Jack Phillion as its new co-ordinator.

Under the Municipal Act, if the council declared Aug. 2, a Thursday, as a public holiday, all shops would have to close.

Last time city council declared a civic holiday was 22 years ago.

The 1939 council declared the morning of May 30 a public holiday to honor the visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth to Victoria.

STORES OBJECT

In 1959, a similar suggestion was made to honor the visit of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip but it was rejected by council after considerable discussion because of financial loss to business firms.

Instead, council "requested" stores to close voluntarily. Most did so for a few hours so that their employees could witness the civic reception for the Queen.

A similar controversy probably will boil up again. But it is expected that there will be a stronger drive to obtain an actual holiday declaration which would compel store closing.

The suggestion of a public holiday was made in a calendar of events issued today in printed form by the centennial committee. It was followed by a question mark.

PAGEANT START

Official centenary ceremonies and opening night for the city's historic pageant are scheduled for Aug. 2.

Meanwhile, formal search for a successor to centennial co-ordinator Archie Wills began over the weekend with advertisements for applications.

An informed source indicated that Mr. Phillion's name will be among the applications when they are opened Thursday.

He is considered the No. 1 contender for the job because of his promotion experience in handling the Kinsmen Club's Giant Bingo events.

Mr. Phillion, who also has "youth" on his side, operates a Fort Street shoe repair store and a parking lot. If he gets the $400-a-month job, he will be the third to hold the controversy-ridden post.

Door Opened—Just Crack By Oak Bay Committee

First Oak Bay council committee to "break the sound barrier" is the newly-formed works and parks committee, which opens its doors to the press at tonight's inaugural meeting.

Nothing special is planned. It's just that "There has been so much criticism," chairman Coun. Fred Robinson said.

The subject of administering municipal business behind closed doors at committee meetings and in committee-of-the-whole sessions of council came up at last month's elections.

Several candidates advocated a freer approach to making local policy.

Coun. Robinson, former chairman of the works committee, was named last week by Reeve George Murdoch as head of the combined works-parks committee.

Parks committee chair went vacant at the end of the year when Coun. Gordon Elworthy resigned to contest the re-election.

The 16-year-old girls will be trained in home nursing by St. John Ambulance, civil defence officer Geoffrey White said.

A basic 100 volunteers covering all categories of emergency organization is sought by Mr. White to enable more widespread training of volunteers.

Initially, training headquarters except for first aid and home nursing courses, will be the basement of the municipal hall.

JACK PHILLION

Quick Start On 30-Mile Island Road

Work will start as soon as snow is cleared on a $2,000,000 new highway up the east coast of Vancouver Island linking Campbell River and Kelsey Bay.

Award of two contracts for the 30.62-mile job was announced by the highways department.

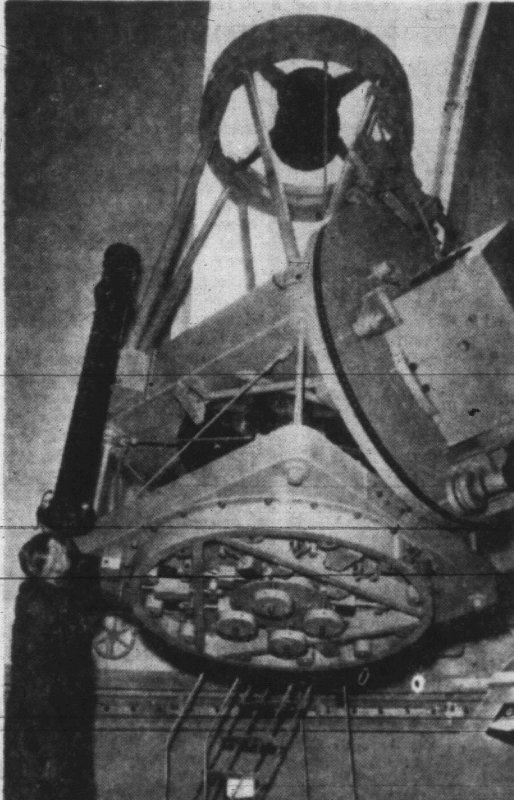

First stretch, 15.27 miles from Menzies Bay to Roberts Lake, will be built by Dawson Wade & Co. of Vancouver at a cost of $966,003.

LOW BIDDERS

Second stretch, from Roberts Lake to Sayward, will be built at a cost of $1,037,093 by Miller Cartage & Contracting Ltd. of Richmond.

Both firms were low bidders when tenders were opened in December.

A highways department official said the whole job would take about a year. It will be a two-lane highway with paved shoulders of the same standard or better than the present Island Highway to Campbell River.

Sons of Freedom Doukhobors Fred Jmaeff, 37, and Alex Barisoff, 24, were found guilty by an all-male jury that deliberated for one hour and 37 minutes. They will be sentenced later. (See story page 3.)

Immigration Racket Probe Started

TORONTO (UPI)—The immigration department today launched an investigation into charges of alleged payola to speed up visas for Greek bridegrooms.

The inquiry followed a story written by columnist Pierre Berton in the Toronto Star who said he had three affidavits from Greek immigrants swearing they paid money to a Toronto travel agent for his help in obtaining visas from the immigration department.

INVASION SPEARHEAD?

Dutch Repel
Indonesian Landing Craft

HOLLANDIA (AP)—An Indonesian torpedo boat was sunk today by Dutch patrol ships inside West New Guinea's territorial waters on the south coast, the Dutch Navy said today.

At least three Indonesian motor torpedo boats were intercepted and a second may have been sunk, the navy said. The other intruder fled.

The Dutch news agency quoted the Navy commander in Hollandia as saying it was thought the Indonesian warcraft might have been the vanguard for an invasion. A Dutch defence ministry spokesman at The Hague refused to comment when asked whether the clash meant an actual state of war between The Netherlands and Indonesia.

The navy spokesman said the Indonesian torpedo boats were intercepted near Etna Bay. This is a region within easy range of some of the eastern Indonesian islands believed used as a base for the infiltrators.

The agency quoted navy Capt. R. M. Elberts, chief of staff of The Netherlands navy in the territory as saying the Indonesian motor boats were "presumably of Russian or East German make."

Craft Tracked Down With Radar

The agency correspondent in a message telephoned directly to The Hague said the Dutch warships and aircraft tracked down the Indonesian craft with radar.

The encounter was the first recorded outbreak of fighting between the Dutch and Indonesian armed forces since Indonesia started threatening to "liberate" the territory.

A defence ministry spokesman said details of the incident were lacking, including the strength of the Indonesian vessels.

COLLEGE YOUTH SLAIN
IN GHOST HUNT PRANK

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—An excursion to a supposedly haunted house Sunday night ended in the shotgun slaying of a University of Cincinnati freshman.

Capt. Jess Dennis of the sheriff's office said Harry Demoret, 82, who lived alone in the 150-year-old house, admitted firing the two shotgun charges that killed Jack W. Langhorst, 18, of Cincinnati.

Dennis said Demoret told them he opened fire when the youth "battered through the door" and entered the house.

Butler county officials did not file charges against Demoret because, they said, evidence indicated young Langhorst forced his way into Demoret's home.

Langhorst was in a party of 10 youths who went to the house. Langhorst's friends told deputies they met some girls at a drive-in who told them about "haunted houses" in the vicinity. They decided to visit one.

Prisoner

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—Antoine Gizenga was a virtual prisoner of United Nations and Congolese forces encircling his residence in Stanleyville today.

The government announced the pro-Communist deputy premier had agreed to end his self-imposed exile and return to Leopoldville after his personal bodyguard surrendered Sunday to Congolese troops.

Nearly 300 of Gizenga's guards—his military army in Stanleyville—have been disarmed and taken prisoner by central government troops under Gen. Victor Lundula, the UN reported.

A tight cordon of UN Ethiopian soldiers and Lundula's men surrounded Gizenga's mansion, keeping him isolated until a decision is reached on what to do with him.

Gizenga's fate seemed to rest with parliament and the cabinet of Premier Cyrille Adoula, both hostile to the one-time Patrice Lumumba's political heir and impatient at his continued defiance of the central government.

The UN announced meanwhile that 21 UN Nigerian soldiers were surprised and captured in Luluabourg by the small remaining forces of South Kasai province's Albert Kalonji, separatist leader now under arrest by the central government.

The Nigerian brigade major promptly flew to the South Kasai capital of Bakwanga to obtain the release of his men. The UN said the local authorities handed back the troops and apologized for the incident.

ALGIERS (Reuters)—Two Europeans, including a top municipal official, were slain today in the western city of Oran as a wave of violence continued unabated in Algeria. (See story page 9.)

Victor Demare, Oran's mail and telecommunications director, was cut down by gunfire soon after military officials in Algiers said the first two weeks of 1962 were the bloodiest since the national insurrection began more than seven years ago.

Demare, known as a supporter of President de Gaulle, recently received threatening letters from the European extremist Secret Army Organization, police said.

Tariff-Cutting Program
Agreed by U.S., ECM?

(Times News Service)

BRUSSELS — The booming European Common Market hurdled a big obstacle during the weekend and moved into the second stage of its three-step program for eliminating trade barriers among its members.

Hard on the heels of the joint agricultural agreement reached by the market members came a report that a sweeping tariff-cutting program has been agreed on by the six-nation market and the United States and will be signed Tuesday in Brussels.

However, one spokesman at the U.S. mission to the Common Market, while confirming that the meeting was scheduled for Tuesday, said "as far as we know, the meeting is not for the formal signature of any agreement."

He said he doubted a formal agreement could be signed because "this has to go back to GATT" — the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade organization in Geneva under whose auspices negotiations started.

Settlement of the market members' wrangle over agricultural policy opened the way for Britain's bid for membership in the group.

Reports on the market-U.S. agreement said the pact involved reductions of up to 20 per cent on many industrial products. Exactly which products would be covered was not known.

'Will Hurt Canada'

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian government officials took a gloomy view today of the European Common Market's adoption of a common agricultural policy.

"It's undoubtedly going to be more restrictive" for Canadian agricultural exports, a senior official commented.

The Common Market's big step, taken on the weekend after days of hard bargaining at Brussels, would affect exports of Canadian agricultural products to the six countries of the Common Market and also farm exports to Britain if Britain finally enters the big trading bloc.

Money Stolen
From Restaurant

By HAL JONES

Cracksmen smashed open a safe in a Chinatown restaurant early today and escaped with a haul possibly in excess of $12,000.

The theft, from the office of the Don Mee Co., 538 Fisgard, is the largest in Victoria for many years. The office is only 100 yards from the city police station.

Exact amount taken from the battered safe will not be determined for a number of days. It is believed a number of persons and Chinese businesses had banked their money in the premises, described as the unofficial Chinese bank in Victoria.

Company officials will say only that "several thousands of dollars" are involved.

However, a rough estimate by city police at noon placed the haul at between $10,000 and $12,000, in cash and cheques.

An unofficial source said it was possible more than $12,000 had been taken.

ROUNDABOUT ENTRY

City detectives were called to the scene shortly after 7 a.m. today. It is thought thieves entered the building about 5 a.m.

Detectives said entrance was gained in a roundabout manner. The safemen apparently clambered up a fire escape on to the roof and then dropped through a skylight into a butcher's shop at the front of the building.

The premises comprise a butcher's shop, office and store rooms on the ground floor and a restaurant on the second floor.

From the butcher's shop, the intruders made their way into the office. They first knocked the dial off the safe and tried to punch it but this attempt obviously failed, police said.

They eventually succeeded in breaking the safe open by splitting the door with a heavy hammer.

Earle Lehna, spokesman for a night security patrol which reportedly checked the premises five times during the night, described the burglary as "a professional job."

"Whoever it was must have eased the area and known that we stop checking at 5:30 a.m. Continued on Page 3

Action Hinted
On Columbia

OTTAWA (UPI)—Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton indicated today that Canada and the United States may soon take joint action to clear up the Columbia River controversy.

Fulton told newsmen he had "pleasant and profitable" talks on the Columbia over the weekend with U.S. Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall.

"The nature of those discussions will become evident in the reasonably near future," he added.

SATURNA SLAYING

Widow
In Mental Hospital

Mrs. Marian Money, widow of a Saturna Island man who was shot and killed Friday night in his home, was admitted to the provincial mental hospital at Essondale Sunday.

The frail and pretty 21-year-old mother was committed on a warrant sworn out by two doctors and a stipendiary magistrate.

Victim of the shooting, William Money, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Money of Saturna, was found by friends late Friday night when they called to take him to work at a building material plant on the island.

TWO WOUNDS

They found the body on his bed with two bullet wounds in the chest. There were two .38 calibre bullets on the floor, and a .38 calibre pistol belonging to the victim was found in a dresser drawer. It was sent to the RCMP laboratory in Regina for examination.

The young widow, whose health has been poor since the loss of the couple's first child 18 months ago, was in the same bed in a dazed and incoherent condition. Their five-month-old son Gordon was safe in his crib in the same room.

Friends called the victim's father, island constable and justice of the peace, and notified RCMP at Ganges, on Salt Spring Island.

INQUEST ADJOURNED

An inquest opened Saturday morning under direction of Coroner Miles. Acheson of Ganges, then was adjourned to Jan. 27.

The five-room bungalow in which the shooting took place is at Lyall Harbor.

Body of Mr. Money was brought to Victoria for an autopsy, and Mrs. Money was taken to Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital at Ganges.

Anglican funeral service will be held Tuesday at Saturna Island Community Hall with Rt. Rev. Michael E. Coleman of North Pender Island officiating, and interment will be in Saturna Island cemetery.

CASH NEEDED TO START BUSINESS

Hero's Widow Wants to Sell VC

—BIRSTALL, England (UPI)

A nation wide controversy flared today over a widow's determination to sell her war hero husband's Victoria Cross to raise badly-needed cash.

The bronze medal was won by her husband as an 18-year-old member of the Royal Air Force in 1940.

Mrs. Janet Hannah, 40, whose husband died in 1947 of tuberculosis, said she needed the money to start a hairdressing business and to bring more security to her family.

She said she has received one offer of 1,000 pounds ($2,800).

Officials of the RAF Association said they would try to talk her out of selling the medal. They hoped to come up with an offer of financial aid that would make selling it unnecessary.

But Sunday night Mrs. Hannah stood firm. Her 19-year-old married daughter, Mrs. Josephine Burditt said:

"She's had a tremendously hard fight bringing us up. Now all she wants is security. She wants to make her own way now."

Mrs. Hannah who said she had the assent of her three daughters, declared: "Nothing has caused us more pain than the prospect of parting with his VC. But after 15 years of struggling to make ends meet, selling the medal is my only hope of raising money."

The dead husband's parents came out against the sale and so did the Leicestershire branch of the RAF Association. Hannah won the bravery medal when he put out a blaze with his bare hands in a bomber over Holland.
